Voters to settle school transfer issue

Voters in both Pomona and Walnut school districts will decide March 8 whether three elementary schools and one intermediate school in Diamond Bar will be transferred to the Walnut district.

Also involved is the transfer of approximately 590 students from Ganesha High School in Pomona to the Walnut district. The total number of students affected would be around 3,000.

The Los Angeles County Board of Education, in a 10-minute meeting Tuesday afternoon, instructed Richard Clowes, county superintendent, to call the election. The board action was based on protests by both school district boards against the transfer.

In discussion of the issue before their decision, Walnut board members labeled their protest "technical" to mandate the election.

The transfer has been sought for several years by the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association.

Majority approval in both districts is required to achieve the transfer. If the issue fails in either district, the transfer wili be denied.

Approval of the transfer would make it effective July 1, 1978. Charles Carpenter, superintendent of the Pomona district, and David Brown, Walnut superintendent, agree that for practical purposes it would take effect in September as the summer school in each district begins in June.

Playboy incident turns on Ford

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

Although the White House once expressed interest in setting up a Playboy interview for President Ford, presidential aides say Ford never really intended to appear in the magazine and that Playboy executives were just being given the run-around.

Ford has been trying to staple Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter to the wall for granting an interview to Playboy, but executives of the Chicago-based magazine say Ford at one time was eager for the magazine to interview him.

Both Ford and Carter spent Tuesday campaigning in the Chicago area, underlining their concern about the importance of the Illinois vote to the outcome of next Tuesday's balloting.

Nessen said Playboy's account of the first contact was false. "I can't find a scrap of evidence in our files to back it up," he said. "I can't find anyone in the White House who contacted Playboy about a possible Ford interview."

Of the second contact, Nessen said Playboy wrote the White House and asked for an interview with Ford for another story. Nessen said Ford really wasn't interested in the interview and that when Nessen wrote a letter to Playboy offering to cooperate in setting it up, "the letter was worded in a polite way. We always find a polite way to turn down requests for interviews we do not want."

He also said Ford had said he did not want the interview. Ford has said he turned down an interview request "with an emphatic no."

Playboy's publisher Hugh M. Hefner accused Ford of "an improper and reprehensible attempt to damage the Democratic candidate through guilt by association, as though granting an interview to Playboy were equivalent to posing naked in the center of the magazine."

Ford, doing a TV commercial in Chicago with sportscaster Joe Garagiola, said Tuesday that his administration differs from Nixon's because "there's no pomp, there's no ceremony, there's no dictatorial authority."

The program, in a talk show-type format, has Garagiola serving up questions that Ford wants to discuss. Ford said in the program that he runs a "people's White House" that allows individuals to walk in and tell him their views.

But Carter told Illinois crowds that Ford had kept too many Nixon officials in the government. Ford, he said, did not bring into government "new, aggressive, dynamic people to change things that were wrong" with the Nixon administration.

Carter said Ford had done nothing to control inflation and unemployment. "Instead of moving forward or standing still, our nation has slipped backward," he said. "You can't stand still and cling by your fingernails to the past."

Playboy executives, obviously irritated at GOP barbs being thrown at the magazine, issued a statement Tuesday saying the White House had first suggested that the publication do a Ford interview.

G. Barry Golson, Playboy assistant managing editor, said the White House offered an interview with Ford after the satirical article, "I Am Jerry's Brain," was published in the September 1974 issue.

"The White House press office called and said the President had read the article and invited the writer to spend a few days at the White House to see how the real Jerry Ford's brain works," Golson said.

But he said the writer had other assignments and did not accept.

Playboy said a later effort to set up a brief interview with Ford was unsuccessful because of scheduling conflicts and that the White House was cooperative in that effort.

One of 7 escaped lions still free

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP) — One of seven vicious 400-pound lions that escaped from a private zoo is apparently roaming the hills in a remote area of northwest Georgia, authorities say.

Searchers are proceeding on the assumption that the young lioness still is within a 35-acre fenced compound about seven miles north of here near the Georgia-Tennessee border, said a Catoosa County sheriff's deputy who asked to remain anonymous.

Authorities armed with high-powered rifles and machine guns killed four of the seven lions a few hours after they escaped late Monday from the zoo owned by Vernon Keown, 41, and his wife, Linda, 25.

Claremont again has highest property tax rate in county

Pomona, La Verne, San Dimas, Walnut among 15 highest, despite rate cuts

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

Despite substantial reductions in tax rates, Claremont has emerged for the second straight year as the city with the highest property taxes in Los Angeles County.

Claremont's total tax rate has dropped from $16.0042 in 1976 to $14.8152 per $100 of assessed valuation this year, a reduction of nearly eight per cent. But drops also were recorded by most of the county's 84 cities and 28 unincorporated areas.

Reductions in the total tax rates were made by all cities on the Los Angeles County side of the valley, but even with those cuts, Pomona, La Verne, San Dimas and Walnut remained among the 15 cities with the highest tax rates in the county.

Walnut with $14.0424, was the sixth highest; La Verne with $14.1561, was seventh, Pomona with $13.9530 was 14th and San Dimas with $13.9359 was 15th highest.

Among the unincorporated territories, Diamond Bar was the 10th highest with a tax rate of $13.4751. Rowland Heights, adjacent to Diamond Bar, had the fifth lowest tax rate, $12.1168.

In most cases the tax cuts did not lead to reductions in the tax bills. They were offset generally by increases in the assessed valuation of private homes which ranged from 10 to more than 100 per cent.

It was not uncommon for a home assessed last year at $7,500 — 25 per cent of its $30,000 market value — to jump to $15,000, reflecting an actual market value of $60,000.

The Board of Supervisors, noting the highest jump in assessed valuation in three decades, has called for an investigation of the assessment practices of County Assessor Philip E. Watson. Supervisor Baxter Ward claims homeowners are bearing the brunt of the increases, and some commercial and recreational facilities have barely been figured at higher valuations.

The board also called Tuesday on the state Legislature and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. for an emergency session to consider tax reforms. Supervisor Kenneth Hahn wants the state to take the burden of taxes for welfare away from the property owner.

But unless such legislation is passed within the next six weeks, and county officials don't see much chance of that, property owners will pay their taxes based on the present assessments.

Thus a home assessed at $11,250 and a market value of $45,000, will draw a $1,661 tax bill in Claremont, $1,614 in Walnut, $1,641 in Diamond Bar, $1,592 in La Verne, $1,569 in Pomona, $1,567 in San Dimas and $1,363 in Rowland Heights.

The same home would be taxed at $960 in El Segundo, which at $8.5389 per $100 of assessed valuation has the lowest tax rate in the county.

The City of Los Angeles has a tax rate of $13.7897 per $100 of assessed valuation. A $45,000 home there would generate a $1,551 tax bill.

WIND TOPPLES TRAILER

Winds gusting between 45 and 55 miles per hour tipped this single, 25-foot trailer on its side Tuesday on Feron Street between Archibald and Turner avenues in Cucamonga. The trailer is owned by C. B. Holder Co., which is constructing a housing tract. Strong winds throughout the night damaged property and filled the air with dust.

West End receives most wind damage

Hot Santa Ana winds originating from the Salt Lake basin of Utah continued to lash the West End of San Bernardino County today but spared the Pomona side of the valley.

The California Highway Patrol continued advisories on both the San Bernardino and the Pomona freeways east of Ontario. They cautioned motorists driving trailers and tall trucks to find alternate routes because the winds, at times blowing at 60 miles an hour, were causing extensive sand damage.

The winds snapped several power lines, causing outages in the North Upland-Alta Loma-Cucamonga area and ripped up smaller trees that blocked some major roads Tuesday and this morning. The National Weather Service said Santa Ana conditions would diminish late this afternoon and would disappear by the morning.

The destructive windstorms apparently missed the Los Angeles County side of the valley. The Pomona Street department reported a large number of calls for cleanup of debris and tree limbs but there were no major blockages. The Southern California Edison Co. said most of its emergency calls were from the West End where the Santa Ana caused havoc to the power lines and the heavier trees.

A major outage affecting several hundred families in the Foothill Knolls-Red Hill area of Cucamonga was reported at 3:30 this morning. Power was out for an hour.

Traffic was rerouted at Foothill Boulevard and Rochester Street Tuesday afternoon after a fallen tree blocked passage.

A trailer owned by C. B. Holder was flipped on its side by the winds at a construction site near Archibald Avenue and Feron Street. And the winds felled a tree on a car owned by Carolyn Gendron of 4974 Los Serranos Ave. in Chino.

Santa Ana conditions hampered firemen as they tried to extinguish a blaze in a garage at 9829 E. Main St. in Cucamonga. Sparks from the fire were carried to a nearby field where they started several grass fires. But they were quickly put out. Firemen estimated the damage at $10,000 to $15,000.

Because of the winds, it took firemen more than 30 minutes to bring that blaze under control.

The weatherman called the storm a typical Santa Ana condition, following the usual path.

The winds caused by a high pressure condition in the Salt Lake Basin, moved over the Mojave desert, then came through the Cajon Pass of the San Bernardino Mountains.

They stayed along the foothills, causing a major power outage in Fontana Tuesday, then bent southward near Alta Loma and Cucamonga. They took in Ontario, then moved to the Chino area, and through Carbon Canyon whipped into Orange County.

Orange County was reportedly the hardest hit area in the Southland. The Edison Co. reported that about 30,000 customers were left without power for several hours because of outages caused by the storm.

The weatherman said the winds would die down later today and would be followed by fair weather Thursday with temperatures in the 80s.

Coroner says ferry boat capt. had been drinking

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The pilot of a ferry involved in a collision on the Mississippi River last week in which an estimated 100 persons died "had been drinking, and his ability was impaired," a coroner said today.

"This coupled with the fact that he was at the end of his shift, the drinking and the fatigue, in my judgment, impaired his judgment and his ability to handle his vessel," the coroner, Frank Minyard of New Orleans, said.

Minyard, who handles toxicology for the area surrounding New Orleans, said an autopsy on Capt. Egidio Auletta showed "the blood alcohol level was .09 milligrams per cent and that is just a tad under 0.1 milligrams per cent which is the legal definition of being drunk in the State of Louisiana."

The coroner's report was presented to the Coast Guard during an inquiry into the disaster last Wednesday in which the Norwegian tanker Frosta overturned and ran over the loaded ferry.

Minyard said his office performed the autopsy on Auletta last Thursday, and the report on the condition of the blood came in today.

The report said Auletta's urine was tested for drug content, but nothing was found.

The captian's body was the only one on which an autopsy was performed Minyard said. "We knew how they all died," he said.

Divers have recovered 68 bodies, although officials now estimate 100 died. Eighteen survived.

City teachers will vote on 1-day walkout

Pomona's public school teachers were scheduled to vote this afternoon on whether to stay out of the classrooms Thursday.

The vote on the proposed one-day walkout was to be taken at a meeting of the general membership of the Associated Pomona Teachers at 4 p.m. in Ganesha Park.

The walkout is being recommended by the APT board and its 70-member Representatives Council following a meeting held by this group Tuesday afternoon at Simons Junior High School.

APT executive director Delbert A. Pfeifer said that if the majority vote this afternoon is affirmative the teachers will not report to their classrooms on Thursday.

He anticipates 700 to 800 teachers will attend today's meeting in the park to hear APT's position presented by himself, Judd Ellson, APT president, and Galal Kernahan, APT's contact person with Service Center One of the California Teachers Association.

Pfeifer said the board and Representative Council were recommending the one-day walkout because the school board had failed to make a 1976-77 contract offer which insured "good working conditions. The offer the board has made is below the 1975-76 agreement in protecting teacher rights and working conditions.

"We have been at it (negotiating) since last March, and the board has shown no significant movement on these items."

Pfeifer said the walkout recommendation is a "follow-up" of the APT membership's near 90 per cent vote last week to reject the board's 1976-77 "bottom line" contract offer.

"We are not talking about a strike," said Pfeifer. "We are talking about a one-day walkout by teachers, and that is what we are recommending."

Schools Supt. Charles C. Carpenter said this morning that "in the event of such an illegal strike or walk-out, regardless of the duration, we will do everything possible to see that all schools remain open and operating, with fully credentialed staff.

"We urge all parents to fulfill their responsibilities in seeing that their youngsters do attend school.

"It is true that some classes may be combined, but worthwhile instruction will take place and the health and safety of the children will be given top priority."

'Makes Diamond Lane sound like peanuts'

Berkeley may be using toll roads soon

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Should Californians, who opted long ago against toll roads, start paying to get on a freeway or even a city street?

How would the public react to toll roads?

The state's most publicized recent experiment involving freeways was the Santa Monica Freeway Diamond Lane, a project banned by a court order.

Now there's a local question in Berkeley whether to charge tolls of $1 or $2 a day to use city streets, with money going for shuttle buses.

"It makes the Diamond Lane sound like peanuts," said Donald Burns, Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s Business and Transportation secretary, in an interview Tuesday.

Burns described the Berkeley proposal as "amazing."

"It is being closely monitored by the Department of Transportation," he said.

Statewide, local governments may soon be given the public's opinion on toll roads, from a series of hearings set up by Burns' agency.

"I think that's fine, I would have no problem" with local tolls for local roads, but "I feel pretty sure we won't recommend any toll roads" using major arteries "of statewide significance."

State toll roads, such as a fee for motoring Interstate 5, would have scant chance in the legislature, Burns said, but the concept of local governments setting up toll roads on their own thoroughfares is another matter.

The concept is mentioned in a draft plan of future policy for the State Transportation Board and Burns' agency. The board is holding more than 100 meetings around the state to inform the public.

Business and Transportation has set six public hearings, starting Nov. 8 in Oakland, for testimony on the draft. Other hearings are Nov. 10 in Redding, Nov. 12 in Fresno, Nov. 19 in San Diego, Nov. 22 in Sacramento and Nov. 23 in Los Angeles.

Yet Burns said he doesn't believe the state legislature will adopt any of the plan that now exists as a draft. After hearings, it will be presented as a report, not a recommendation or proposal, he said.

It includes suggestions for higher gasoline taxes to pay for roads and maintenance, and even the possible use of a computer to compile and send out bills to freeway users.

"Because I come from the East," Burns said, "I'm quite used to toll roads. I have no problems with that. But the history here is pay for bridges by tolls, but not highways."

Of the concept of full-cost taxing, perhaps 18 cents a gallon on gasoline, Burns said it "could be a very regressive tax and penalize those who work for a living, and that's most of us."

Burns said the draft plan has "many, many things in it. There are no proposals in it. It was not adopted by the board, or me. It does not represent my views nor anyone else's, except those of the staff who drafted it.

"We'll have a series of hearings, get comments and then review.

"I doubt it will be fulfilled, but it's a useful exercise, a useful thinkpiece."

Burns said the judge's decision that banned Diamond Lanes on the Santa Monica Freeway last summer was being appealed, "but not because we would institute another Diamond Lane. Our concern is what the California Environmental Quality Act provides and what the judge means."

Statewide toll roads requiring legislation would create quite a furor on the Senate or Assembly floors, Burns acknowledged.

But for a single area like Berkeley he said a legislator might not have difficulty getting it approved as a district-supported measure, if state legislation was at all required.

Sailor tells how he survived sea ordeal

HOSPITAL BOUND

Bruce Collins, rescued shipwrecked sailor, is placed in an ambulance after being removed from U.S. Coast Guard cutter Campbell Tuesday. The Walnut Creek man was rescued Sunday after a 28-day ordeal on a raft in the Pacific. He buried two of his companions at sea following their deaths.

Bruce Collins says sleep, rainstorms helped him live

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bruce Collins says three rainstorms and his fondness for sleep helped him survive a 28-day shipwreck ordeal that killed two companions adrift in a raft with him.

But his parents say overflowing confidence and optimism saved the tall, gaunt but rosey-cheeked young sailor who arrived here Tuesday aboard a Coast Guard cutter that plucked him from the Pacific Ocean on Sunday about 80 miles west of here.

"I just got into it — slept a lot," Collins said after he was rushed by ambulance to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital here. "I slept as much as I could ... I just felt fine. I'm a recreational sleeper."

Collins told his parents that emergency water supplies ran out 13 days after he, Jim Ahola and Camilla Arthur took to a small life raft after the sinking of the 42-foot yacht Spirit about 800 miles west of here. Two other survivors were rescued from a separate life raft six days before Collins was found.

"We were able to catch rain water from the canopy on the raft," he said. "Probably after the water ran out, we got maybe three good rainstorms ... That would be a pint of water each time."

The 23-year-old business student-turned-adventurer refused to say how Ahola, 25, and Miss Arthur, 20, died until he had afforded their families the courtesy of personally telling them. He planned to meet with them today.

His mother, Mrs. Kathryn Collins of Walnut Creek, Calif., said she asked her son if had given up hope during his days and nights alone on the high seas. "He said, 'Heck no. I was going to drift to California,'" she said. "He's always been strong and optimistic."

Though Collins was malnourished, dehydrated and infected with sores when rescued, his condition improved as he was fed soup and other liquids during the two-day voyage here.

And his doctor here said he arrived in such good condition that he wanted to try a hamburger as his first bit of solid food. His only real ailments were sores on his arms and legs caused by heat and lack of hygiene on the raft.

"He's in good spirits," said Dr. Robert Sullivan, chief of cardiology at the hospital. "He's well oriented and looks to have survived the ordeal in very good shape ... I think a good night's sleep on a nonrolling bed would ... be good therapy."

What seemed to bother Collins most upon his return was the pushing and shouted questions of reporters and photographers who swarmed around his stretcher as he was carried off the Coast Guard cutter Campbell. About 100 persons, including news media personnel, curious onlookers and some Coast Guard personnel, were crowded along the Pier 19 dock where an ambulance awaited his arrival.

"You guys have been hounding me, just chasing me around," he said later. "I don't dig it at all. I'm glad to make a statement. I just wanted some order out of you guys."

Mrs. Collins, her banker husband, Kenneth, their daughter, Mary, and a friend of young Collins were allowed to see him aboard ship, and they visited him later at the hospital.

They, too, said that Collins didn't want to discuss his ordeal in detail, and Kenneth Collins said, "He's still emotionally exhausted and didn't want to bring back unplesant memories."

Ahola's aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Dallal, of Santa Clara, said she was at the dock to find out about his death. "Jim was healthy and strong," she said. "He should have made it. I don't understand what happened."

Ahola's brother-in-law and owner of the ill-fated yacht, Ray Jackson, visited with Collins at the hospital but declined to tell reporters any details about the ordeal until other relatives could talk with him.

However, he said there were some "conflicting stories" about what caused the boat to break up during a storm Sept. 27 and sink. He said there was uncertainty about whether the boat hit a floating object like a log or whether there was an explosion of some sort.

Jackson said there apparently was a large hole in the bottom of the boat to cause it to plunge straight down, and there was other "structural damage" which he declined to specify.

He said the crew of the Spirit was hand-picked, but Collins, hired as navigator and captain, was the only person aboard whom he would entrust command for the Honolulu-to-San Francisco voyage.

Relatives said Ahola was an outdoorsman who had done some photography. Miss Arthur was his girlfriend.

The other crew members were Miss Arthur's friend, Nancy Perry, 21, and Durel Miller, 28, whom Jackson met on an earlier cruise around the Hawaiian islands. It was the rescue of Miller and Miss Perry on Oct. 18 that touched off the week-long search for the other life raft.

Collins told his rescuers that Ahola died Oct. 19, and Miss Arthur died two days later.

A veteran of about six years of intensive sailing, Collins had at least temporarily given up a career with an accounting firm so he could sail around the Pacific and gain enough experience to become a master mariner. In the past 16 months, he had sailed to Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand and other Pacific ports.

He took a navigation course at Cal Poly-San Luis Obisopo in central California and was active in sailing activities there and later at the University of Southern California, where he was close to finishing work for a masters of business administration.

Claremont council sends Griswold's hotel plans back to the commission

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The Claremont City Council has sent back to the Planning Commission the disputed Griswold's 97-room hotel matter, and asked the planners to come back with a report for the council's Nov. 23 meeting.

The council Tuesday night before a standingroom-only crowd decided to let the commission review a third site plan submitted to the city after the commission at its last meeting denied by a 4-2 vote a conditional use permit for the hotel structure.

Alton Sanford, Griwsold's owner, appealed the commission denial to the council.

Councilman Frank Hungerford abstained from discussing the matter because he handles insurance for Griswold's.

At the end of a 2½-hour informal public hearing, Councilman Richard Newton moved to uphold Sanford's appeal, and to refer to the Traffic Safety Commision the concerns raised regarding traffic on Santa Barbara Drive and Oxford Avenue for recommendations.

Mayor Bertye Smith voted for Newton's motion, with Councilwomen Eleanor Cohen and Claire McDonald not supporting his action.

Earlier, Mrs. Cohen had moved to send the third site plan back to the commission which had seen only the first and second plans, but both Mrs. Smith and Newton said they couldn't support the motion.

"I'd like to take the bullet and bite it, and make a decision tonight," Mrs. Smith commented.

Although he didn't support the motion, Newton said he supported many of Mrs. Cohen's concerns, and stressed that the matter had been handled badly from the beginning.

He said that the applicant had tried to ram the project through the commission for the purpose of time.

He said that "it is a darned shame that the conditions hadn't been hammered out before the commission meeting."

"The applicant and the city staff could have separated the wheat from the chaff," he said.

Mrs. Cohen moved to table her motion until later in the meeting.

In a memo, City Manager Norman King has recommended approval of the conditional use permit, subject to several conditions.

King asked that a site plan for the total development of the Griswold complex contain no fewer than 1,067 parking spaces.

King said that the art fair should not be an issue at that time, but residents protesting the hotel also included congestion created by the art fair on weekends.

Mrs. Eric Saville who lives on Santa Barbara Drive protested that the three-story office building Sanford is erecting on the west end of the comples is ugly, and "You are railroading this through. You've got to wait for that three-story building to be finished. Mister Sanford is not the only one supporting Claremont. We should have Santa Barbara Drive as a cul-de-sac."

Allan W. Wicker, 1377 Via Zurita, called for an over-all plan for the entire complex. He said that the project's effects are not limited to parking and traffic. He showed pictures of what he called inadequate shrubbery for screening, trash piles, and a warehouse needing repairs.

Stephen Ritchie, 1380 N. Indian Hill Blvd., said that if Claremont is to become a tourist trap, the council should approve the hotel, cut the elms on Indian Hill Boulevard, widen that street, and increase the speed limit.

Dick Scribner of 1787 Athens Court, said he is a newcomer to Claremont, but that "this type of white-collar industry should be encouraged and not discouraged. Griswold's complex is one of the nicest of its type."

Scribner was talking from experience because he had stayed at the inn while on company business. He cited the nearness to Ontario International Airport.

"We would like to see the increase in rooms, because our firm has had trouble getting reservations," he said.

"I have always found it hard to override one of our commissions, and tonight I find it equally hard because this is one of the most important projects in the city," Mrs. McDonald commented after the informal hearing was closed.

She supported Mrs. Cohen's contention that the Planning Commission should examine the third site plan.

The council was warned that the next commission agenda has ten public hearings on it and meets until earlier the next morning.

Newton suggested that the matter could be handled at a study session.

As to the urgency of completing the 97-room structure, Sanford explained that conventions must be sold two to three months ahead.

Surveys show improvement needed in the Chaffey Dist.

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Correspondent

Results of an almost year long study of Chaffey High School District achievements and student, community, parent and faculty attitudes indicates there's room for improvement.

Two surveys by Orange County consulting firms presented to a special board meeting Tuesday night outlined areas where improvement is needed.

Board president G.A. Chalfant said the two studies for which the district paid $15,000 showed administrators and trustees what "we really are doing and what we should be doing."

"There's no free lunch," Chalfant said. "It will cost something (to implement the suggestions) and we'll have to decide" how much.

Supt. Mike Dirksen said neither study "will be put on the shelf and forgotten. We'll do something with them."

School Research and Service Corp. of Anaheim conducted a parent attitude survey, while Joan K. Linn and Associates of Orange tested both teachers and students on how each group believed it was accomplishing educational goals.

Miss Linn's $11,000 study outlined 17 areas where improvement is needed from reading skills to a more structured setting of educational goals at various schools. The $4,000 School Research survey of parents measured parental attitudes on 33 levels.

Overall rating of the latter study indicated 69 per cent of parents surveyed were satisfied with district high schools compared to 18 per cent who were not. The balance had no opinion.

Chalfant said as far as he could determine, this was the only study of its kind in the U.S. and should be useful in improving the district's programs.

Asst. Supt. C. Robert Erickson said he was more pleased than displeased with the study which pointed out weaknesses in current programs.

Chalfant said one of the main objectives is to formulate a better program for steering students in high school toward college or post high school jobs. "We don't want them on welfare rolls," he said, adding that a little more money spent on better teaching and counseling in high school is less costly than doling out welfare funds.

Chalfant said he does not want the Chaffey district to become a system where teachers are merely "information presenters where if you understand information presented, you pass, and if you don't, you are left behind."

"Our students are not faceless entities in a mass of humanity," Chalfant said in an oblique reference to the sprawling Los Angeles system.

Walnut council to hear about citizen sessions

What citizens of Walnut want for the future of their city will be learned by city councilmen tonight.

They will hear a report from Frank W. Salfingere Jr. on a series of meetings held with residents earlier this month.

Salfingere, city engineer, and George Shindo, regional planner, have contracted under the firm name of Urban Engineering to act as consultants in the updating of the city's general plan.

Also on the agenda are public hearings continued from a previous meeting on annexations to the city's landscape and open space district formed in June.

Eight U Mark tracts and one La Solana tract are affected.

Still another tract, developed by the Vanguard Co., has a place on the agenda. The council will consider installation of stop signs coming out of streets in the tract onto Vejar and Pierre Roads.

Councilmen also are expected to decide whether to approve an agreement with Los Angeles County for modification of traffic control devices on Valley Boulevard.

Electric short causes fire

An electrical short caused $10,000 damage to a large truck-trailer rig in a spectacular fire Tuesday afternoon on Sunflower Avenue in Glendora just south of the 210 freeway.

James Lee, 1055 Bradford Ave., Glendora, owner of the rig, was pulling off the freeway to return home with the empty truck when he noticed smoke coming from under the truck.

Lee pulled to the side of the road and saw flames when he looked under the truck. He ran to a house and tried to use a garden hose to douse the fire but the truck was totally engulfed.

County firemen responded at 4:45 p.m. and had the fire under control in five minutes. Fireman Bill Maynard of Station 85, Glendora, received first and second degree burns on his arm and leg. He was treated at the station.

OCR rep pays visit to Pomona

A representative of the U. S. Office of Civil Rights was in Pomona today to hear concerns of Spanish-speaking parents and to follow up on efforts to comply with Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) project requirements undertaken by the school district.

She is Gloria Hurley of San Francisco Region 9 headquarters.

Schools Supt. Charles Carpenter said Tuesday he had been informed of Mrs. Hurley's pending visit. "She will be checking into our methods of language assessment for limited and non-English speaking children and also our testing procedures for placing children into special education classes," he said.

Charges of discrimination in those two areas, based on information supplied by district employes, delayed the district's 1976-77 $1.8 million ESAA grant several months until the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare granted a waiver, based on efforts underway to bring district procedures into compliance.

The Concerned Parents of the Pomona Unified School District, a group of largely Spanish-speaking parents headed by Rafael Chavarria, said Wednesday they would present a list of their concerns to Mrs. Hurley.

They planned to bring to her attention their concern that district efforts to expand bilingual education to meet requirements of the Lau vs. Nichols U.S. Supreme Court Decision were being focused on only 10 elementary schools.

And, Chavarria said, they feel the master plan for bilingual education being developed in the district "lacks commitment from administrators in the special projects programs, such as Compensatory Education, ESAA and Early Childhood Education (ECE)."

A look at two communities and their presidential polls

For whom the bell(wether) tolls

EDITOR'S NOTE: The nation has its various "bellwether" communities and states during a presidential election — areas that say their choice has been the nation's choice for years. Here is a look at two such communities. One took a poll that says Ford will win. The other did not take a poll, but its sheriff says, "I've talked to people and most of them are for Carter."

EMMETSBURG, Iowa (AP) — Rural Palo Alto County, which prides itself on having voted with the winner in every presidential election since 1896, favors Gerald Ford this time, according to a local poll.

"Mostly I think it comes down to why they wouldn't vote for the others," said Jane Whitmore, who is handling the poll for the Emmetsburg Democrat and Reporter.

The newspaper poll shows Ford with support from 50.6 per cent of those answering, to 46.7 per cent for Jimmy Carter and 2.9 per cent for independent Eugene McCarthy.

Since ballots first appeared in the paper on Sept. 30, 274 have been returned in this northwest Iowa county of 13,289 residents. Most of its towns exist mainly as retail trade centers and commodity marketing points for farmers.

Editor Jerry Hofstad said the poll confirms his impression of how the election will go. He said many residents oppose Carter "because he wants to give everything away, and they're full of it — welfare, food stamps and crap like that.

"They also like some of the things Ford has done, like the vetoes of the big spending bills."

Carter backers, said Ms. Whitmore, who prefers that designation, "seem to think it's time for a change ... and they were mad about the grain embargoes."

Ford may have lost some support by firing former Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, Hofstad said. "The farmers here thought Butz was doing a good job for them."

He said the obscene racial slur that was Butz' downfall caused little discussion in Palo Alto County, which has only one black family in permanent residence and a few blacks attending the local community college.

Carter's controversial Playboy magazine interview seemed not to change many opinions in the county, Hofstad said, "but I understand that issue (October) was a sellout here."

BROOKSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The sheriff says Bracken County has a habit of voting for the winner in presidential elections, and he figures this year Jimmy Carter is a shoo-in.

"I predict Carter will be the next president, and a lot of people here think that, too," said Sheriff Roy Allen Jett. "We're traditionally Democratic, but we're traditionally right, too."

Jett said in all but two presidential elections in the past three decades, residents of this northern Kentucky county have voted for the winning candidate.

"Every sheriff is on the election committee, so I'd say I've got pretty good solid grounds to say Carter will win," Jett explained. "For a long, long time we've voted for the right guy, and I've talked to people here and most of them are for Carter."

The county's recent miscues came in 1952, when it went for Democrat Adlai Stevenson over Dwight D. Eisenhower, and in 1960, when county voters chose Richard M. Nixon, who lost to John F. Kennedy.

Local Republican leaders are calling the election "still a horse race," but Mike Templeman, a state Democratic official, said he agreed that if Bracken goes for Carter, Kentucky and the nation will, too. He said registered Democrats outnumber Republicans 1,153,629 to 498,388 in Kentucky.

Faye Chinn, deputy county clerk, agreed with the sheriff that Bracken's voters generally reflect the mood of the nation. But she declined to make a prediction about the presidential race.

"I think it will be a big election, a big turnout, but I think it's a toss up this time," she said. "This is a farming community and if tobacco is ready to be stripped then, it may not be a big turnout."

Tunney, Hayakawa 2nd debate tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Tunney and Republican challenger S.I. Hayakawa squared off for their second televised debate today after differing sharply on foreign affairs in separate appearances.

Today's debate, the last scheduled before voting next Tuesday, is slated for broadcast at various times beginning tonight in different parts of the state on noncommercial public broadcast stations.

In a pre-debate exchange of charges Tuesday, Hayakawa said Tunney's amendment cutting off covert U.S. military aid to Angola encouraged Marxist factions, and Tunney said Hayakawa's proposal to lower the minimum wage for minors is a destructive idea.

Tunney also told an estimated 300 students at a UCLA rally that he wonders "why the United States feels compelled to become the major arms supplier of the world."

And Hayakawa discussed the psychology of pornography and urged women to get magazines such as Playboy and Penthouse off news stands "by picketing, by demonstrations, by any other means."

Tunney said at the UCLA rally that "because of our arms sales, we are creating a precondition for war.... Without the United States, many wars could not be fought....

"Why we should give military and economic aid to countries like Bolivia, Brazil, Chile and Argentina, that are torturing and oppressing their own citizens...for the life of me I cannot understand."

But at an earlier news conference with reporters from the UCLA student radio station, the Democratic incumbent said he thought the United States should continue giving arms to South Korea.

When a student described South Korea as a repressive government, Tunney replied: "We can use our arms sales or gifts as a means of getting them to reform their government."

Hayakawa said the amendment Tunney sponsored to cut off aid to Angola "said to the Soviet Union and their stooges, the Cubans, 'help yourself to any part of Africa. We will not do a thing to stop you.'

"I think the course of events might have been changed," Hayakawa told a luncheon meeting of employes of the state attorney general's office in Los Angeles.

Tunney said at UCLA that California should have a port to receive oil from Alaska to avoid "an adverse effect" on the economy. He didn't specify where he wanted that port, but he noted Long Beach wanted such a facility while other communities opposed it.

Hayakawa repeated his suggestion that the minimum wage for minors should be reduced to $1.50 an hour in order to open up more jobs to children who need them, he said, not for the money so much as for the growing-up experience.

Tunney in a radio interview repeated his criticism of the Hayakawa proposal, saying it is a "human waste" to have people on welfare and "to destine a child of 13 to a lifetime of welfare by starting him out at $1.50. It is just dynamite. It is just bad."

READY FOR HALLOWEEN Marge Janick adjusts a mask of President Ford at her Milwaukee novelty shop where politicians' masks are in vogue this political Halloween season. At left is a mask of Jimmy Carter. Mrs. Janick says her biggest selling political mask this year is neither of the candidates but rather that of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Ford 'misled' public on Watergate, say Demos

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democratic chairmen of two congressional committees were quoted today as saying President Ford "misled the public" when he said he had been cleared by the committees of trying to limit an early Watergate investigation.

Answering newsmen's questions during the third presidential debate with Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter, the President said he had been given a "clean bill of health" by the two committees during the November 1973 confirmation hearings on his nomination to the vice presidency.

The Los Angeles Times quoted Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and Sen. Howard Cannon, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, as saying the President's answer was misleading because it "ignored" two pieces of additional information that became available after the hearings.

The Times, in its Wednesday morning editions, said Rodino and Cannon listed those pieces of additional information as:

—A White House tape of a Sept. 15, 1972 conversation in which President Richard M. Nixon ordered his subordinates to have Ford limit the investigation.

—Former Nixon aide John W. Dean's recent statements that Nixon White House staffer Dick Cook had talked with Ford about trying to limit an early Watergate investigation by the House Banking and Currency Committee.

Cook has denied ever discussing the matter with Ford. And another Nixon aide, John Ehrlichman, has said he knows nothing about any White House staffer ever contacting Ford, who was House minority leader at the time of that early committee probe.

NBC News reported Tuesday night that the Justice Department did not place Cook under oath when it questioned him about Dean's statement. In Washington, Justice Department spokesman Robert Havel said Cook was interviewed but "I'm not going to interpret under what rules."

Havel said the Justice Department is standing by Atty. Gen. Edward Levi's decision Oct. 20 against conducting a new investigation of whether Ford lied at his vice-presidential confirmation hearings when he said no one on Nixon's staff contacted him about blocking the Banking Committee's Watergate probe.

The Times reported that Rodino had telephoned its Washington bureau to say that he was disturbed by Ford's comment and by the fact that Ford would not say he would try to make the White House tape recordings available to resolve any questions about the matter.

Cannon was quoted as saying that Ford's comment made him uneasy and that Ford should seek release of the tapes "to make it absolutely clear one way or another" whether he had acted in concert with the Nixon White House in trying to stifle the Watergate probe.

During the presidential debate, Ford was asked about making the Nixon White House tapes available for examination and he replied that it was for the "proper authorities who have control over the tapes to make that decision."

The Times quoted Cannon as saying: "I would have felt much better about the President if he had said, 'While I don't have jurisdiction, I will request that they be made public,' and I am sure they would be if he asked for them."

The newsaper said Cannon then added: "I have no doubt that at some time the tapes will come out; and if it turns out that Mr. Ford was involved at the direction of the White House, it would give us another Watergate cover-up."

News briefs

Postal job action delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the largest postal union are delaying talk of a nationwide job action for five months after receiving assurances that they will be consulted before workers are transferred to other jobs.

The executive board of the 200,000-member American Postal Workers Union voted 41 to 1 on Tuesday to postpone consideration of moves to protest the transfers, said union President Francis Filbey.

Leaders of many of the big-city locals have been pressing for unspecified sanctions against the Postal Service. The sanctions could take the form of a slowdown or a strike.

Four men adrift rescued

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Four men adrift in the Gulf of Mexico since their ship sank Monday were rescued early today after a search plane spotted the narrow beam of light from the men's flashlight.

"They're pretty fortunate," said Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. Gerald Zamolli. "A flashlight at night isn't easy to spot."

Zamolli said the men were plucked from a small raft by a rescue helicopter shortly after midnight and taken to a local hospital for observation.

They were identified as Phillip Baugh, the ship's captain; Danny Busick; Douglas O'Brien; and Manny Bradley, all of Gulfport, Miss.

Rumsfeld defends Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld said today "I can't believe for a minute" that Jewish voters would react against President Ford because of Gen. George Brown's remark that Israel is a military burden to the United States.

"The voters have their heads screwed on rather well and they know the President's positions on a whole range of things, including Israel," Rumsfeld said in an interview on ABC's "Good Morning-America."

Ford last week publicly described the now celebrated remark of his chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as "very ill advised" but did not officially reprimand the general, as the President did in 1974 after Brown had told a group at Duke University that American Jews exerted undue influence.

French to probe charges

PARIS (AP) — The French National Assembly created a special investigating committee today to look into charges that Marcel Dassault, 84-year-old creator of the Mirage jet fighter, cheated the government out of $300 million.

The new committee set up by the legal commission was ordered to investigate how all public and private aircraft manufacturers — not only Dassault — use public funds, and to report in four months.

There was speculation that such a broad mandate would blunt the inquiry into the Dassault case, in which the airplane magnate is accused of bribing two high civil servants.

Permit for center a must—city attorney

With the Ontario Planning Commission's approval of a conditional use permit for a convenience center Tuesday night, the city attorney ruled that all such developments must apply for a permit in order for the city to review its feasibility.

The four commissioners present — chairman Oswald Marrujo, Richard Evans, Ruben Franks and Norman Sharp — agreed to approve the request from William C. Smith for a permit for a convenience center at the northeast corner of Mountain Avenue and Francis Street.

The site consists of approximately 1.5 acres and is presently zoned R2. The permitted density in this residential zone would allow the construction of about 24 dwelling units, but a convenience market is allowed in the zone with the issuance of a conditional use permit.

Smith requested the permit for a proposed nursery in conjunction with a future convenience market and shops. The nursery will comprise .92 acres and the remainder will be for the future development of the market and shops.

City Atty. Samuel Crowe ruled that when a convenience facility comes into the city the developer must apply for a conditional use permit for that particular site in order for the city to review the feasibility of such development at an exact location.

According to the planning staff report, the Smith proposal "will not encourage strip commercial development on Mountain Avenue nor is it likely that any of the three remaining corners would be developed with a convenience center. The ordinance incorporates within it certain development standards which regulate the location of a convenience center to the intersection of collector and arterial streets, limits the maximum size of parcels, limits the total percentage of the parcel devoted to building and establishes minimum frontage. Through these development standards convenience centers could not be established mid-block and the maximum size standard would regulate the total frontage on any given street."

The nursery will be constructed in two phases with the first consisting of 640 square-foot building and an open display area. The second phase would be an 896 square-foot addition to the building and a lath house.

In other action, the commission denied an appeal from Carl Karcher Enterprises on conditions of approval imposed by the Development Advisory Board relative to the proposed development of Carl's Jr. and Taco de Carlos restaurants at Fourth Street and Baker Avenue.

The board recommended that the sign for the restaurants be lowered and that the entrance to Harvard Street from the commercial site be closed. The commission upheld these two recommendations from the advisory board composed of all the department heads in the city.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Strike-troubled Continental Airlines has canceled all flights through midnight Sunday amidst a deadlocked contract dispute with its pilots, an airline spokesman says.

Spotlight on area crime

Pomona woman raped

A 21-year-old Pomona woman was raped and beaten by a man who forced her into a field near her apartment early today, police said.

Officers indicated the woman was leaving her apartment building on Grand Avenue when the man sneaked up behind her and forced her into a vacant field about 2 a.m. The victim was beaten about the face and bitten on the chest.

Police said they were seeking the man, who fled in an unknown direction on foot. He was described as black, 6 feet tall, 150 pounds.

Women doctors also play housewife role

DETROIT (AP) — Three out of four women physicians surveyed in the Detroit area say they take care of their families' cooking and shopping in addition to their patients' health.

The survey, reported in the current Journal of the American Medical Association, also indicates that the women physicians earn less than their male counterparts and rarely hold high-status positions in their profession.

Dr. Marilyn Heins of the Wayne State University School of Medicine and Sue Smock of the school's Center for Urban Studies surveyed 87 Detroit-area women who had been trained as doctors.

Three-fourths of the women physicians reported that they do all their families' cooking, shopping, child care and money management.

But two-thirds of the doctors said they had domestic help one or two days a week to assist with laundry and cleaning chores. The remaining third said they did all their own housework.

The average family income among women doctors — most with working husbands — still was lower than the average family income of male doctors, few of whom had working wives, the study said. Forty-three per cent of the women doctors are married to doctors.

"I don't think there's any question that there is sex discrimination in medicine," said Dr. Heins.

She said the survey findings contradicted an assumption held by some medical educators that training women for the profession is a waste of time because they tend to leave to care for their families.

The study indicated that 84 per cent of the women were doing medical work and 90 per cent were working full-time at some job.

The researchers said only 7 per cent were not working for reasons related to sex. The others not working were physically disabled or had retired.

Peace plan endorsed

Still some rents in Arab tents

CAIRO (AP) — The Arab world's feuding kings and presidents mended some of the tatters in their tent of unity at the summit conference in Cairo Monday and Tuesday, but many disputes remain unresolved.

The reconciliation between Egypt and Syria was consecrated, and most of the leaders endorsed the new peace plan for Lebanon. But they could not agree on a peace-keeping force, imperiling prospects for an end to the 18-month-old civil war.

After 14 months of bitter accusations following Egypt's signature to the second Sinai agreement with Israel, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and President Hafez Assad of Syria embraced publicly.

Assad declared that relations had returned to the high point that preceded the October 1973 war with Israel, when Syria and Egypt were allies.

The two were reconciled at the minisummit 10 days ago in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, at the insistence of Saudi King Khaled.

Winter storm brings snow to five states

By The Associated Press

A winter storm continued moving south today, carrying snow to Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and parts of Nebraska and Kansas.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for southeast Colorado and south-central Kansas. Travel advisories were kept in effect for mountainous areas in New Mexico, Colorado and the Oklahoma panhandle.

A storm watch went up for the Texas Panhandle and southern Plains states.

High pressure systems over Minnesota and Idaho were to keep the remainder of the nation dry, with the exception of some rainfall in the Great Lakes region.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 7 degrees at Hibbing, Minn., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

The forecast called for rain in eastern parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Light rain or snow also was predicted for the lower Great Lakes region.

Clouds were to cover the central Plains states and mid-Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures were to begin climbing in the northern Plains and Rockies, and mild reading were expected in Florida and along the Pacific coast. The rest of the nation was to be cold.

Hoi polloi

"Hoi Polloi" comes from the Greek and means "the many."

Gov. Edwards:

'If we have to pay bribes, so be it'

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Edwin Edwards says if American businessmen have to pay bribes to sell their products abroad, they should be allowed to do so if foreign governments don't object.

"Unlike the press and IRS (Internal Revenue Service) and other government agencies, I'm all for it," Edwards told reporters Tuesday.

Asked if he meant paying bribes to foreign officials, the governor replied: "Absolutely, pay bribes."

Said the governor, "I think one of the most reprehensible things that the press and the national government has done has been to inhibit American business from doing business with foreign governments in accordance with the mode of operations in those foregn countries."

A day earlier, Edwards acknowledged his wife, Elaine, accepted for herself and her children a $10,000 cash gift from South Korean businessman Tongsun Park in 1971.

THE POCKET LADY — Amy Callow, 7, and Brian Shelton, 5, search the pockets of first grade teacher Kathy Beauchamp for prizes and treats. Miss Beauchamp will act as "the pocket lady" at the annual school carnival Saturday at La Verne Heights School from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Other treats include a Halloween costume contest, food, games and prizes, movies and a white elephant booth. The theme is "Haunted Heights."

Flameproof costumes advised

Miniature gypsies, monsters, angels, goblins, hobos, pirates and witches should wear only flameproof costumes on Halloween night, warns the Greater Los Angeles Chapter of the National Safety Council.

Parents should caution their children when they go trick-or-treating to be careful crossing streets, stay on the sidewalks and don't dart into the streets.

It is more safe if children stay in groups.

Their decorative masks should not obstruct their vision or breathing.

Children should be instructed never to enter the home of a stranger, under any circumstance.

It is advisable for a responsible adult to accompany small trick-or-treaters on their rounds.

The Safety Council issued its warning in the hope that "all young masqueraders will have a safe and happy Halloween night."

DINING OUT IS FUN!

L.V. Heights Service Club

School carnival scheduled

La Verne Heights School Service Club will sponsor its annual school carnival on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the school grounds.

In celebration of Halloween, the carnival theme will be "Haunted Heights." The festivities will begin with a Halloween costume contest judged by two of La Verne's policemen. Children wishing to participate should gather in the softball area at 11 a.m.

There will be five categories in the costume contest — funniest, scariest, prettiest, most ugly and most original. The participants will be separated into the divisions of kindergarten through second grades and third through fifth grades. The winners will receive prizes.

Other attractions include food, games and prizes, movies and a white elephant booth.

Libel suit is removed from court calendar

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

Acting on the belief that "justice has been done and the matter has taken care of itself," a $3.5 million libel suit filed against the City of Ontario by an Ontario police officer has been moved off the West Valley Superior Court calendar without any payment of the claim.

Attorney George S. Hobson in acting for the plaintiffs, policeman Al Vande Steeg and the Ontario Police Officers Association, last week went before Judge Clifton Allen and asked the suit be moved off the court calendar and charges against two of the defendants in the suit, Jose Parrilla and Jose Marquez be dismissed.

Hobson reported a settlement may soon be reached in the suit that has continued for more than four years in litigations and investigations.

The stipulations for dismissing the suit entirely must yet be agreed to by all the parties involvrd and then filed in the court.

Information on the stipulations have yet to reach the city's insurance carrier represented by the law firm of Kinkle, Rodiger and Spriggs of Riverside or the city attorney, Samuel Crowe.

Vande Steeg and the police association filed the suit in June, 1972, claiming a poster depicting Vande Steeg as a "pig" and an accompanying petition calling for his firing posted in a mini-city hall in south Ontario were libelous and damaged his reputation as a police officer.

Vande Steeg also charged the city would neither reject nor accept the results of an internal police department investigation, an Attorney General investigation and a Grand Jury investigation clearing him of alleged misconduct and discrimination in a barrio incident on Nov. 11, 1971.

In that incident, Vande Steeg arrested a Latin resident whose son had earlier been involved in a knife fight with an Anglo youth at a housing project. Vande Steeg arrested the man after he was accused of trying to kick the Anglo youth after the initial fight.

The incident drew attention of other Latin residents, including Parrilla and Marquez, who accused the officer of discrimination and misconduct in the barrio. The petition and poster appeared in the mini-city hall after the officer was cleared of any charges by the investigative agencies.

Vande Steeg filed the suit against the city after the City Council was presented the investigation results and still refused to officially vindicate him, said the officer.

In the lawsuit, the officer charged the poster and City Council action injured him in his occupation as a police officer and exposed him to "the hatred, contempt and ridicule of obloquy of his friends and the public."

During subsequent lawsuit hearings, Vande Steeg said his wife and children received phone calls at home from unidentified persons who used vulgarity in calling him a "racist" and "pig."

Vande Steeg had sought $2.5 million in damages for himself and the police officers association and $1 million for his wife for emotional damages.

Since the suit was filed, four of the five council members have left their council seats, the city manager retired and the police chief accepted a position in another city. And the mini-city hall was closed following accusations it was a meeting place for drug pushers and had thus lost its effectiveness in the community.

Believing that "justice had been done" and because of the administrative changes, Vande Steeg said he didn't want to accept any monetary settlement from the city.

"It took care of itself," said the officer.

Military fashion

Military men have put their mark on men's fashions: Eisenhower (jacket), Blucher (boot), Cardigan (sweater), Raglan (coat), Wellington (boot). In the first decades of the 19th century, the Duke of Wellington, fresh from his triumphs over Napoleon, appeared in public in trousers, thus hastening the departure of silk hose and breeches.

Care and Convenience... a Tradition

Care requires convenience. That's why one visit to Rose Hills Memorial Park takes care of every need during a difficult time.

Beautiful chapels, modern mortuary and crematory, traditional mausoleums, flower shops — and professional counselors who know care means everything.

Rose Hills . . . a naturally beautiful memorial park where dignity, understanding and care has been a hallmark of tradition for half a century.

STIRS UP NEIGHBORS Residents of South Claremont are up in arms over the house that was moved at night onto a vacant lot on Virginia Road, just south of Arrow Highway. The Claremont Architectural Commission will continue discussion over the hot issue Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Move creates an uproar

Talks on controversial house resume

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The Claremont Architectural Commission tonight at 7:30 will resume discussion about a controversial house which was moved about 4 a.m. one day from Glendora to a vacant lot on Virginia Road, one house south of Arrow Highway.

The commission at its Oct. 13 meeting continued the matter to give applicant Grant Mehren an opportunity to submit new drawings incorporating suggested changes to make the T-shaped structure more consistent with the neighborhood.

The commission already has received from Virginia Road residents a petition voicing their concern that the house doesn't fit architecturally into the area.

"Our homes were built by Robert Olin and Ralph Lewis to fit onto the lot. They have many added features this one doesn't have," commented Ulrich Paige whose landscaped home is next door to the vacant lot.

Paige said that he felt city officials have treated the matter as an accomplished fact, and that it was rather arbitrary how the whole thing was done.

"I came home from work one day and saw a man grading the vacant lot," Paige explained. "He told me he was preparing the lot for a house his firm would be bringing in that night. The house arrived at 4 a. m. the next day."

Mehren proposes asking the city to rezone the property from Arrow Highway south to the vacant lot from residential-2,000 square feet, which would allow apartment units, to single-family, and then get a lot split.

The house, about 74 feet long and 44 feet wide, is one story, has seven rooms, and a gross floor area, exclusive of the two-car garage, of 1,600 square feet.

The way the house was moved onto the lot makes it encroach five feet into the front yard setback and one foot into the backyard setback; in fact, the house is only seven feet from the rear wall.

The city staff has recommended that the commission determine that the house does fit harmoniously into the neighborhood.

The commission had asked Mehren to include in his drawings the following additions: the north yard to be set back 13 feet, a wing wall be added at the northwest corner of the garage and extended five feet to the north, the roof eave be extended five feet to the north, a small gable roof bay be extended down to the top of a brick wainscote, a wing wall be added at the south end of the house for five feet, and a roof extension be added to the south side of the house from the front eave to the ridge for seven feet, and a board and batt fence be extended from the wing wall to the south property line.

Billboards:
Still creating a stir in Pomona

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Pomona's 13-year battle over billboards went another round without a decision Tuesday night as the Pomona City Council withheld action on a proposed settlement with industry giant Metromedia Inc.

Former Mayor Ben Lawing and several other speakers attacked the proposed settlement, calling it a "cop out" and urging the council to make no decision until citizens have a chance to speak out on the issue.

The proposed settlement would allow Metromedia, through its subsidiaries Foster & Kleiser and Pacific Outdoor Advertising, to retain 80 of its 100 billboards in the city's commercial zones. Moreover, the remaining 80 would be totally safe from any future demands for removal.

"That's the hooker. You can't ever touch the remaining 80. They're supposed to come down by attrition, but that isn't going to happen in your lifetime, or my lifetime, or our kid's lifetime," said Lawing.

He urged that the city not "cop out for 20 billboards. Let's take our chances in court."

The city's chances in court might better be stated as the city's chances of getting into court.

Councilman Charles Bader noted, along with Mayor Lepire, that the industry's high-powered lawyers are experts at delaying tactics.

"We've been working on this for four years. We've hired attorneys outside our own city attorney. How much more is it going to cost? What are our chances of succeeding in court?" asked Lepire.

City Attorney Patrick Sampson called the city's chances in court "even," stating that some cases had been won by cities and others had been lost.

The consensus of the council seemed to be that getting rid of 20, which Lepire termed the 20 "most obnoxious," is preferable to continuing a costly legal battle that might take many more years to conclude and might end in defeat.

Councilman Benjamin Ochoa offered a possible alternative, suggesting that the matter be put on next March's municipal ballot and allow the voters to decide whether the cost of continuing the fight is worth the price.

The fight against the billboards actually began in 1961 when studies were undertaken to determine how to control billboards, which many view as ugly.

In 1964 the city adopted an ordinance limiting billboards to industrial zones only, and provided that existing billboards in commercial zones should be removed in two years.

In 1966 under pressure from industry interests the city extended the period for removal until Jan. 1, 1973.

No billboards came down and in February 1973 the city's move to enforce the ordinance was met with lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the ordinance and a preliminary injuction was issued pending the outcome of the case.

Since that time the entire matter has been bounced around among the lawyers on both sides, and as Bader put it — "there is no end in sight."

Due to that, the council earlier this year appointed Bader and Councilman Adrian Wright to participate in talks that might lead to an out-of-court settlement.

The proposed settlement is the result of those discussions.

While the proposal does allow the 80 billboards to remain, the city does gain one big concession, in addition to the removal of the 20 signs. That is an agreement by the industry not to challenge a city-wide ban on any new billboards in any zones, commercial or industrial.

When all discussion of the issue was concluded, the council voted to withhold action on the settlement until the ordinance banning all new signs was completed and sent through the Planning Commission and back to the council. That may take six to eight weeks.

The vote was 4-0. Wright did not participate in the vote.

Fair rent proposal delayed for 2 weeks

Action on a proposal to ask the Los Angeles County Fair Board for rent from now on was postponed for two weeks by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, despite a plea by Supervisior Kenneth Hahn for immediate action.

Hahn, sponsor of the measure, contended that the county needs the income right now. He said he was unwilling to put off action very long.

However, in deference to 1st District Supervisor Peter Schabarum who has jurisdiction on the board over the Pomona based fair grounds, Hahn agreed to the postponement. Schabarum is on a two-week vacation.

Despite the postponement, Hahn managed to get support for his proposal from Supervisor Baxter Ward, who noted that he had long sought some revenue from the fairgrounds. He reminded the board that when he asked for some rebate from the fair board last June, he received no support.

Hahn assured him that this time his attitude, at least, would be different.

Hahn contended Tuesday that the fair board has $1 million in the bank "and we don't see any of that money except for a $28,000 tax on some personal property."

He said he was upset that the City of Pomona was getting about $100,000 a year in amusement taxes and the state was taking $900,000 a year from horse racing.

County Administrator Harry Hufford has written a report for the supervisors in which he recommended that the county reopen its five-year contract with the fair board and renegotiate it for a rental.

An aide to Hufford estimated that the rental could be $50,000 to $100,000 a year.

Crisis training set

A series of 12 training sessions will be held by the Pomona-Ontario Suicide and Crisis Intervention Service for new volunteers, coordinator Eleanor Allen announced.

The first of the sessions is scheduled for Nov. 2 at the Schuman Psychological Center in Upland. All persons interested in volunteer work with the crisis intervention service are urged to telephone the center, 985-2504 for more information.

Mrs. Allen said the organization particularly needs Spanish speaking volunteers to man telephone lines in their homes once a week.

By Chino Fundamental School Study committee

Administrative interference charged

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Correspondent

A minority report by the Fundamental School Study Committee of the Chino Unified School District charged administrative interference in the committee's operation at Tuesday evening's board meeting.

The final report submitted by the group, which voted nine to two against the school, said that while the fundamental school was desirable it was economically impractical to establish one in Chino at this time. Gladys Briggs, chairman of the group, told trustees Tuesday that there was strong support for such a school by members of the committee.

"Chino has the open classroom and the middle classroom," she said, "but we don't have the fundamental type of classroom." Mrs. Briggs told the board that she expressed concern over poor attendance at committee meetings to administration officials and that she felt that vitally interested persons had not been selected for the committee. She said that Sam Burton of the administrative staff had told her volunteers could be called in to fill roles on the committee, but that he reversed himself the following day claiming only board-approved committee members could attend committee meetings.

In light of that ruling, said Mrs. Briggs, the presentation before the committee of Art Utsler, another member of the school district's administrative staff, was unjustified. She claimed Utsler's appearance before the committee was a violation of the previous administrative ruling. The report stated that Utsler was not a member of the committee but could have provided the committee with information in writing. Mrs. Briggs also claimed that Utsler's appearance was not cleared with her as committee chairman and that he had an undue influence on the committee.

Mrs. Briggs also claimed in the minority report that Burton changed the date the final report was to be completed on three different occasions. She further charged that when an Oct. 12 date had been set for the committee's final meeting, Burton declared an Oct. 6 meeting the final meeting even though the entire committee was not present. She said it was at this Oct. 6 meeting that Utsler appeared before the group and that here also a previous 11-1 vote to recommend fundamental school in Chino was overturned and the eventual 9-2 negative vote was taken.

Mrs. Briggs also charged that the completion date for the committee report was planned by the administration because a reporter was present from the Chino Champion newspaper published by Allen McCombs, chairman of the Chino School District Board of Trustees. Briggs claimed that the reporter told her McCombs had sent him to the final meeting.

Mrs. Briggs also claimed that Utsler's testimony before the committee was not relevant to the issues before the committee.

A survey on fundamental schools in Chino reported in June to the school district showed that 43 per cent of the parents are opposed to it, 31 per cent favor it, 15 per cent are undecided and 11 per cent have no opinion or are uninformed.

The board Tuesday evening voted to continue the hearing on the fundamental school committee reports to its next regular meeting.

Formal complaints filed against seven at YTS

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

Formal complaints have been filed against seven Youth Training School wards accused of taking part Sept. 21 in an assault on two security guards that led to a riot and mass escape.

The wards included Jordan Flagg, 21, believed to be the ringleader in the assault, riot and escape. He was charged with attempted murder, assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to do great bodily injury, false imprisonment, and escape.

During the incident, two security guards, Gary Cauble and Tapiri Tabasuri, were attacked by an inmate who had pretended to be ill to be released from his holding cell.

The youth then released more than 100 other wards from their cells. The wards began rioting, thus covering the escape of 12 wards including Flagg, said investigators.

During the rioting, Cauble was seriously injured when struck on the head with heavy objects. He remained in a coma for nearly three weeks, barely clinging to life.

Cauble is scheduled to be transferred from San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland to Casa Colina Hospital in Pomona for rehabilitation therapy.

The other wards formally charged are Edward Renee Hernandez, accused of attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer; Robert Donaldson, accused of attempted murder, assault on a peace officer with a deadly weapon and robbery; and Everett Washington, John Jones, Angel Chavez and Moorey Faucett, all accused of attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer.

Chino police and deputy marshals Monday arrested Hernandez at the Chino facility as he was getting ready to be released after completing his sentence on other felony charges. He was booked at the county jail in lieu of $75,000 bail.

The other wards are being held at the Youth Training School and the California Institution for Men pending court action.

A spokesman for the District Attorney's office reported Donaldson was charged with robbery as he was accused of attempting to remove a ring and watch from one of the fallen security officers during the rioting.

The seven will be arraigned within the next two weeks in either the Chino or West Valley municipal courts. Preliminary hearings will then be scheduled.

The San Bernardino County Grand Jury has indicted 11 other wards on charges of escape from the California Youth Authority. They are now awaiting trials. The Grand Jury indictments preclude the normal preliminary hearings given in the municipal courts.

Officials at the Youth Training School report new security alarms and equipment are being installed to prevent another such incident.

PB endorses Jim Lloyd

There are a number of ways to evaluate the performance of a congressman.

They include not only how he votes on national issues, but on his responsiveness to the needs of the people in his district, his accessibility, and the quality of his local staff.

Congressman Jim Lloyd's accessibility has been outstanding. He has kept himself informed of local feelings, not only by being available to hear what they are but by actively seeking such information.

He has been unusually responsive to the needs of the people of his district. For instance, he was instrumental in getting a half million dollar HEW grant for Casa Colina Hospital for early childhood programs for handicapped children.

Having received a number of complaints from senior citizens about the service at the local Social Security office, Lloyd was able to have that office expanded at a time when Washington was considering moving the office out of Pomona Valley.

Last year, when General Dynamics, one of the major employers of this area, was in danger of losing the Phalanx program, Lloyd was able to get $19 million for research on the Phalanx funding 260 jobs.

Freightliner Corp. in Chino, hurt by federal regulations, had cut their employes from 1,100 to 100 last year. Lloyd was able to get the Department of Transportation to change their regulations and Freightliner is now back up to full employment. A proposed move of the firm to Portland, Ore. has been cancelled.

Jim Lloyd's staff has been responsive as well. They have been willing and able to help local groups and individuals with needed information. And they have done this quickly and thoroughly time and again.

While we have not always agreed with Lloyd's voting record, we do believe he has done an excellent job of representing the people of Pomona Valley in Washington. For this reason, for the best interest of all the people of Pomona Valley, we endorse his re-election bid.

The wildlife tax burden

Those who have enjoyed the flora and fauna of California without sharing in the costs of their preservation may soon be called upon to do so. To date, the environmentalists have done little more than engage in rhetoric about the needs for preserving the state's wildlife heritage. As the saying goes, talk is cheap.

At least it has been cheap for the talkers and those who bask in the outdoors. Attention is now being focused on the nature lovers. A search is under way for methods to directly tax those who benefit the most from the preservation of outdoor California. The impetus is coming from state Fish and Game officials.

They rightly point out that the hunters and fishermen have been paying the costs of wildlife protection through their hunting and fishing licenses and fees.

Up till now the sportsmen have uncomplainingly been the source of funds for the payrolling of game wardens, restocking of streams and lakes, establishing game reserves and relocating animals encroached upon by urban developments. But inflation has taken its toll and the state can no longer look to the sportsmen for sufficient revenues to carry out the many wildlife programs mandated by the Legislature.

The erosion of wildlife has been partly the result of expanding population. But is is not just the urbanization of areas which has diminished wildlife and the great outdoors. The intrusion of people upon the habitats of wild animals has increased tremendously with the growing popularity of outdoor sports such as boating, skiing, camping, picnicking, hiking, and pack trips.

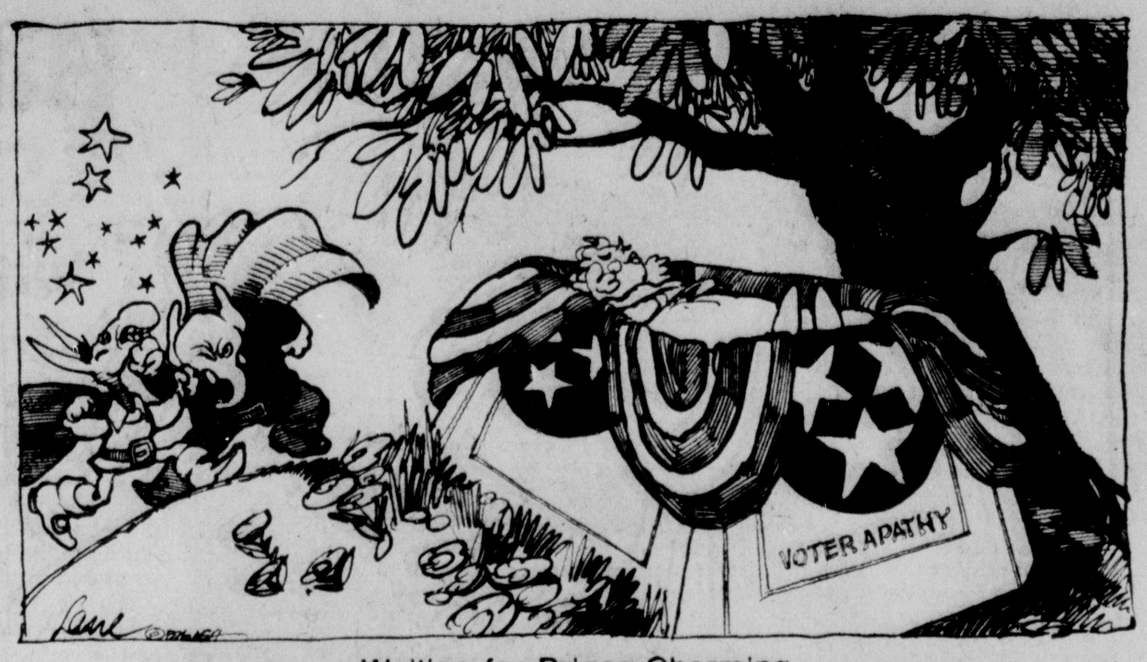

Although admitting that some sportsmen are destructive, fish and game officials contend they are nowhere near as damaging to the outdoors as are the vacationers, especially those with snowmobiles and land rovers.

In the search for a way to levy wildlife preservation costs on those who directly benefit rather than the entire population, fish and game officials have asked the State Finance Department to study a sales tax on such things as boats and other equipment and supplies used by the outdoor people.

Such a tax was first suggested by former Fish and Game Director Ray Arnett before leaving office two years ago. At the time the use of the sales tax for specific purposes was not favorably viewed. Since then the Legislature has adopted a sales tax on gasoline for designated programs and the idea appears more palatable.

Officials are also thinking of special assessments on property developments which diminish the areas for wildlife.

Working conditions intolerable

Dear Editor:

I read with interest the article which appeared recently on the low morale which is affecting city employes. I recently quit the city of Pomona water department after more than 20 years on the job. It was a difficult decision because I was too young to retire, but too old to start a new career. However, the working conditions at the city finally became so intolerable that I had no choice.

The current administration is using the city employes as a whipping boy for all the problems that currently plague Pomona. They would have everyone believe that the average city employe is a leech who does little or nothing for a paycheck that is far more than what his counterpart in private industry is paid. Nothing could be further from the truth. On the whole, city employes are dedicated, hard working men and women who do an excellent job under difficult conditions.

As an example, Pomona has one of the highest rated water departments in the country. Its rates are among the lowest in the area. This has been brought about by a combination of good management and topnotch employes. The same, I am sure, is true of other departments.

As a reward for a job well done, however, the employes are harassed and bullied. The city refuses to honor its contracts with employes. Instead of a salary increase to offset inflation, the city offers to take away the employe health insurance.

Because of the city's attitude, many employes, like myself, have already left the city. If the present policies continue many more will leave. Of course it is the taxpayers who will pay for all this. They will pay in reduced services and in higher taxes. Taxes which will continually have to go up to constantly recruit and train new employes who will remain with the city long enough to gain a little experience and then move on to greener pastures.

IRS probes McCarthy returns

WASHINGTON — Eugene McCarthy, the former senator from Minnesota and champion of liberal causes, who is running for president as an independent, has copied one of Richard Nixon's old tax avoidance schemes.

Nixon first produced his vice presidential papers at the taxpayers' expense and then deeded one-third of them back to the taxpayers in return for a $576,000 tax deduction. He also restricted access to the papers, so the American people couldn't inspect their $576,000 gift.

The law permitting a tax deduction for personal papers, meanwhile, expired on July 25, 1969. Unhappily, Nixon didn't complete the transaction before the deadline. But an aide backdated the deed so Nixon could claim the tax savings. The Internal Revenue Service belatedly levied a $465,000 tax assessment against him.

We have now obtained a confidential IRS report, dated Sept. 21, 1976, detailing the results of a similar investigation of McCarthy. The quixotic, erstwhile senator and his wife Abigail created a foundation, called the "McCarthy Historical Project."

McCarthy then donated campaign papers from his 1968 presidential campaign to his own foundation. For this, he claimed a $33,364.59 tax deduction in 1969, and another "charitable contribution carryover deduction" of $60,834.53 in 1970.

There are some significant differences between the Nixon and McCarthy cases. McCarthy donated his campaign papers on July 1, 1969 — 25 days before the deadline. There was no backdated deed.

The IRS is questioning, however, whether the donated materials were financed with campaign contributions, rather than his personal money. Under the law, he could not take a tax deduction for a gift that his campaign contributors paid for.

The IRS is also trying to determine, according to the confidential report, whether McCarthy reported "sufficient" information about the huge deduction on his 1969 tax returns.

The IRS investigation states that McCarthy decided after the 1968 Democratic convention to donate his campaign materials for posterity. His Washington headquarters sent telegrams to every local campaign office, requesting all "campaign materials." This included internal memos, letters, press clippings, recordings and photographs.

Abigail McCarthy, who is now separated from her husband, recruited volunteers to gather the materials. She explained to us that they originally intended to donate the papers to the Minnnsota Historical Society. But they changed their minds and formed the Women's Education Committee. The name was later changed to the McCarthy Historical Project.

Mrs. McCarthy became the national coordinator and worked 40 hours a week on the project. The IRS report adds this information:

"While the gift to the McCarthy Historical Project in 1969 consisted primarily of surplus political campaign materials, it also consisted in part of materials that appear to have been collected during (McCarthy's) career in the senate, as well as manuscripts of books and articles prepared by him prior to his entry into presidential politics."

The IRS document reports that McCarthy's questionable 1969 returns were prepared by an IRS employee who is now deceased. Adds the document: McCarthy's attorney "has indicated to the Service that only $152,170 was claimed as a charitable contribution deduction on the 1969 return by (McCarthy) at the suggestion of the Service employee. The employee allegedly told (McCarthy) that he could not use a larger deduction in later years and that he should not be greedy."

According to the document, McCarthy didn't deduct the full $152,170 in 1969 and 1970.

His tax expert, Dennis Bedell, spoke for him. Bedell admitted that the IRS is still investigating McCarthy's campaign papers deduction. "They are pursuing weird and wild theories," he said. He insisted that McCarthy has done nothing wrong and his tax returns are clean. The controversial papers, he added, have been turned over to Georgetown University.

WATCH ON WASTE — Representatives from 40 countries gathered in California this month to attend a meeting of the International Cotton Advisory Committee. Because it was an international event, the State Department was supposed to pick up the bills.

The department figured it could hold down the cost to $12,000 by scheduling the conference in Washington. But the Agriculture Department's representative, Kenneth Frick, insisted on holding the meeting in his home state of California. Our sources say he has political ambitions and wanted to stage the event close to home where it would do him the most political good.

The Record costs plenty

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The United States Congress, also known as the Inflation Factory, has adjourned for the year with one final reminder of its fiscal extravagance: The journal of the proceedings of the final day, which is broken into four volumes, for a total of 1,119 pages and a printing cost of at least $320,000.

Guess who pays the $320,000?

The Journal of Congress is known as the Congressional Record. It is an exhaustive if not altogether accurate account of each day's happenings in the House and Senate chambers. Sometimes, as in the case of this year's final edition, the Record approaches in size the Washington telephone directory — and, as numerous critics have said through the ages, its content is about as interesting.

The journal has forever been controversial. Even members of Congress admit that the expensive remarks recorded therein are sometimes meaningless, usually widely ignored, and so often approach irresponsibility. The cost of producing the Record is now about $287 per newsprint page, or nearly $15 million a year, and yet the lawmakers use it almost wantonly for private gain and public posturing.

Buttering up constituents, as example. In the final edition of this session, one congressman used the tax-supported journal to congratulate a deaf couple in Hartsville, S.C., on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. Another inserted several paragraphs in tribute to a retiring high school coach in Rutherford, N.J.

And then there was the space given over to John Fary, a Democrat from Illinois. He wanted everyone to read a poem written by a deceased constituent. The poem is called "Safe Driving", and Longfellow it isn't: "Our lives are more important than the keeping of a date. And we may never get there if our hurry is too great."

Not everyone will read the poem, of course. In fact hardly anyone reads anything in the Record. Despite the enormous cost of the publication (each mail copy requires about $1.50 in postage) its distribution is barely over 50,000. Not that it's not a bargain: Most subscribers get it free at the courtesy of one congressman or another, and those few who do pay are asked for only $45 a year, or about enough to satisfy the cost of printing one edition's masthead.

It can be argued that the Record should be more widely read — if only so constituents can see how little their electeds take part in congressional proceedings. And yet the journal is far too dull for popular distribution. Besides this it is shamefully political; for example, members have the right to sanitize their remarks in print, that is they may delete their faux pas and thus not — not in the Congressional Record anyway — be held forever accountable.

Indeed it wouldn't do for the lawmakers to look silly in the Record. Often they use reprints of remarks to impress the folks back home. And too, if the members work it right, there is even a financial profit to be had from the Record; each member gets five leather-bound volumes of a session's proceedings, and some have been known to give these to libraries in return for a tidy tax advantage.

But for all of the abuse of the Record, this year's final edition set some kind of mark. According to the Record clerk, the closing journal is the largest and most expensive in history. And one of the reasons is that, as usual at a season's end, the honorable gentle people spent a good deal of time and tax money congratulating one another.

By way of illustration, New York Congressman Mario Biaggi inserted 18 separate passages in part four of the final edition. Most of them are windy tributes to colleagues who are retiring. Biaggi said nice things about everybody from Thomas Morgan of Pennsylvania to Spark Matsunaga of Hawaii. These and other goodbyes in the final Record cost the American public approximately $20,000 in printing fees.

Reform is needed. However, it is not likely. The Congressional Record is perhaps the only publication in America that prints only what the politicians want it to print. And everyone deserves at least one friend, right?

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

Consider Diamond Lanes which were to be a freeway motorist's best friend. First our government experts took bow after bow for having devised such a brilliant traffic plan. Then, when two-thirds of the motorists who couldn't qualify for Diamond Lane priority just said to hell with it and started clogging up traffic on secondary streets, those same government experts finally rescinded their tion and promptly took more bows for having nobly seen the error of their ways.

Or consider those mandatory smog control devices which were to make our air safe for posterity. Here again the government experts responsible for that legislation began taking full credit for having originated such a noble anti-pollution experiment. But soon, realizing that smog control devices were also one of the quickest ways for losing control of voters, they finally reversed their field after several on again off again legislative attempts. This time, however, the applause they received for their turn about action was far from deafening. Too many frustrated motorists who had forked over $35 to install a smog control device, later declared unnecessary, were damn well fed up with once again being victims of a government rip-off.

You'd think that would have taught our double dealing experts a lesson, yet somehow politicians never seem to learn. Look at the way they raised our property taxes and are now trying to get back in our good graces again by grudgingly lowering them a little here and a little there. —But the thing that really hurts the most is they actually expect us to bow and scrape and fall all over ourselves in appreciation because of their tax reducing efforts.

Sacramento scene

Court change is coming

While Governor Jerry Brown's philosophies of government have not, in his first two years of office, found much shape in legislative actions, he may soon transfer them into an area which will implement them with prolonged effect. For, before him is the immediate prospect of appointing as many as four justices to the State Supreme Court.

Of the seven now sitting two are past the age of 70 and two more will reach that early next year. Chief Justice Donald Wright has already signaled his retirement before his birthday in February and Justice Raymond Sullivan, who will be 70 in January, is expected to retire before then. There is also some speculation that Justice Matthew Tobriner, 72, may leave soon. And efforts are being made to compel Justice Marshall McComb, who will be 83 next May, to step down.

Of the remaining only two, William P. Clark, Jr., and Frank K. Richardson, are considered conservative, both having been appointed by Governor Ronald Reagan. The other, Stanley Mosk, is a liberal appointed by the former Governor Pat Brown. Three new appointments would undoubtedly make the court even more liberal than it now is and four appointments would give the Brown philosophy complete domination.

Awareness of these facts undoubtedly is what has impelled McComb, an ultra conservative, to stand fast despite his age and the the adverse press he is receiving due to his alleged inabilities to carry on. It also may be delaying Tobriner's retirement while he waits to see what kind of appointments Brown will make to replace Wright and Sullivan.

The vast powers exercised by the state court have become even more apparent in recent years as the court has unhesitatingly moved unabashed into the field of legislation, striking down laws without the pretense of constitutional issues and substituting its own rules in its place.

A court with such predilections for legislating, composed of carefully selected liberals, could easily make traumatic changes in state laws and policies of lasting import. For state supreme court rulings are difficult to overcome, especially so when that court has gained a reputation for its decisions by being upheld by, and often setting the precedents for, the U.S. Supreme Court.

Capital observers are not unaware of the potential the upcoming vacancies on the court present to Brown for the transfer of his views into such a position of lasting power. Already speculation is rife about the forthcoming appointments. Most feel that there will be at least one woman and that the others will be of the ethnic minorities.

If Brown values previous judicial experience for the posts the appointments will probably be fairly well received. But the governor has not shown any predisposition to place experience foremost in any of his selections, especially to the courts. In fact he gave it no value at all in a recent appointment to the Third District Court of Appeals when he appointed a lawyer not only without such experience but not even a California resident.

One persistent rumor is that he favors highly his present Secretary of Agriculture and Services, Rose Bird. She is a 40 year old graduate of U.C. Boalt Hall law school and a former Stanford professor of law. She is without judicial experience.

Another speculation is on Nathaniel Colley, an able black Sacramento attorney whom he recently placed on the State Horse Racing Board. Colley has been an active civil rights lawyer and counsel for the NAACP as well as a staunch Democrat. He is also without judicial experience.

Also said to be high in consideration is Gordon Schaber, dean of McGeorge School of Law. A brilliant lawyer, Schaber served as presiding judge of the Sacramento Superior Court before assuming his law school post.

Spanish tile sub located

I am planning to cover my roof before the rainy season begins in earnest. The roof is very much in need of repairs.

As a penny saved project I intend to do the roof myself.

Because my house is more than 10 years old I cannot put on real Spanish tile because of the weight but I do want to maintain the California-Spanish trend.

At the Orange Show in San Bernardino three or four years ago I saw roofing made of either plastic or asbestos that was supposed to be about three times lighter than real Spanish tile.

Perhaps someone in your office or one of your readers could steer me to a company where I could acquire some of this light-weight Spanish tile. — R. R., Pomona.

A representative of Aylor Roofing Co. in Ontario says there is only one light-weight imitation Spanish tile. It is an aluminum shingle and, the Aylor man says, quite expensive. The manufacturer is Architectural Engineering Products Co., 3650 California St., San Diego.

About the first of April I received some advertising in the mail from Bits & Pieces Magazine in Arlington, Tex.

It supposedly is a bi-monthly magazine with a cost of $4.98 annually.

As I'm avid stitcher for once "junk mail" appealed to me. I ordered the magazine and paid for it but I have never received it. My efforts at solving this problem myself are meeting with failure so I'm appealing to Action Mrs. E. W., Chino.

It took us two letters to learn that Bits & Pieces was perhaps a poor name to pick for the publication. The magazine by that name fell apart. The firm to whom you sent your order is bankrupt.

Clapper Publishing Co. has taken over and you will receive instead a magazine called Crafts 'n Things, you have been informed by Virginia Logsdon, subscription manager.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Determination is the key word in your attitude today. When you get into any activity, you're in it to win.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Trim away the frills today. Get to the heart of the matter. Success is assured if you operate in a down-to-earth way.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who owes you a long-standing debt isn't going to pay up voluntarily. Go after it firmly, but don't be hostile.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's possible you'll encounter some opposition today. The problems won't be insurmountable if you're tactful.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're more willing to aid people with your hands today than with your purse. Service can accomplish what your checkbook can't.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Although it may be tempting, don't try to use your social contacts for business gains unless THEY make the overtures.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Domestic matters should be given top priority today. Think of the family first, and then yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try not to take yourself too seriously today. If your outlook is a sour one, it will have a negative effect on everyone around you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Usually you're generous. Today, you won't give up anything without promise of a return. Selfishness doesn't become you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your independence is precious today. You can guard it without snapping at others who make demands on your time and talent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is the kind of a day when you could get in a box and nail the lid down. You are your own biggest problem today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You are hopeful today, and also realistic. You see things as they are, not as you hope they would be.

Your Birthday, Oct. 28, 1976

Powerful ambitions will be awakened in you this year. You'll know what you want and, what's more, you'll figure out how to go after it.

Facts about lightning deaths

Dear Ann Landers: A neighbor of mine was struck by lightning last Friday. She was buried today.

I never knew anyone who had been killed by lightning before. Her tragic death got me to thinking. I wonder how many people would know what to do if they should get caught in an electrical storm. I'm not sure I would know. Will you please spell out some Do's and Don'ts for your readers? Thanks, Ann. — Sad Neighbor

Dear Neighbor: First the Don'ts:

1. Don't stand under a lone tree.
2. If you are swimming or fishing, get out of the water as fast as you can.
3. Get off bicycles, golf carts or motorcycles immediately.
4. Don't touch anything metal, such as a wire fence, a golf club or a flagpole. Metal objects attract lightning.

Now the Do's:

Get out of the storm promptly and go into a building or a closed automobile.

If you are in the woods, crouch down in a low area under dense brush.

If you feel your hair stand on end (an indication that you are about to be struck) fall to your knees and place your hands on your knees to reduce the chances of your body acting as a conductor.

Please note: The most frequent victims are farmers, fishermen, golfers and cyclists.

Dear Ann Landers: Your answer to "Meant Well Parents" hit the nail on the head. Our son was a bright, charming, creative child with a high IQ. He did poorly in school, got into all kinds of trouble, took drugs and caused us many sleepless nights.

Finally my husband said to him, "You are not going to ruin our lives. From now on you are responsible for yourself. If you make it, fine. If you don't, you will have to suffer the consequences."

From that day on we refused to give him one cent. By so doing we released him psychologically and put him in charge of his own life. We dealt with him in a kindly manner but let him know the apron strings were cut. My heart ached but I knew this was the right thing to do.

The boy had some very rough times but when he finally realized he had no one to depend on but himself, he began to shape up. Our son is now 26 years of age. He has a good job, is putting himself through night school and is off drugs. The transformation is fantastic. He's a pleasure to be around. — His Mother

Dear Mother: Thanks for the assist. I've said repeatedly that parents who give room, board and $$ to drug-addicted, dropout kids encourage their dependency. The sink-or-swim approach is the way to go.

CONFIDENTIAL to Please Repeat the Wise Words of John Harsen Rhoades: Gladly. "Do more than exist — live. Do more than touch — feel. Do more than look — observe. Do more than hear — listen. Do more than listen — understand. Do more than talk — SAY SOMETHING."

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It — A Guide for Teens and Their Parents," gives no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Lost treasure can't be found

When I was an imaginative and slightly backward child, my favorite book was "Treasure Island," and my slit-like eyes lighted up at the thought of pirates and buried treasure.

When I became an imaginative and slightly backward adult, nothing changed. I still delight in the romance and excitement of sunken ships, pirate caves and looted tombs. (In the, hem, maturing process, I also found out why the pirates wanted the beautiful female captives in all those old movies.) But next to an income tax refund, no piece of paper thrills me more than a faded treasure map with a large X marking the spot where 200,000 Spanish doubloons and 11 pirates are buried.

It was then, with considerable interest that I learned about the latest non-find of buried loot, a cool $100 million in gold and jewels hidden at Jaigarh Fort in Jaipur. That's in India, I think. (I always thought Jaipurs were what you wore horseback riding.) (Daipurs?)

I was slightly disillusioned to learn that the hunt for this treasure was instigated not by Errol Flynn, white silk blouse and flashing blade (also flashing teeth) protecting the wide-eyed honor of Olivia DeHaviland (who probably wished he'd mind his own business) or even turbaned, smirking Douglas Fairbanks, footloose among the fabled towers of Samarkand, but by the income tax office. Fancy — income tax investigators snooping into historical, romantic treasures they wot not of! Would racetrack officials give Roland's horse a saliva test? Would Daniel Boone be cited by Forest Rangers for hunting out of season? Would Lady Godiva be arrested for holding up traffic?

It seems, if United Press International got it right (no better than a 2-1 shot) that the fierce Mina tribe of Jaipur, now the capital of Rajasthan state, has accumulated piles of glittering gold and rings, crowns, bracelets, tiaras, swords, daggers and brooches set with diamonds, rubies, sapphires, emeralds, pearls and other goodies. Where this rajah's ransom came from it is better not to ask. The scimitar-wielding descendants of the Mina tribe would probably claim it came from swap meets or possibly an up-country garage sale.

According to tradition, guards would lead the Maharaja of Jaipur blindfolded into his underground treasure room once in his lifetime and permit him to take away any one item on the supermarket shelves. Only one, but still, if you stubbed your toe in a vault containing $100 million in assorted jewels, chances are you would come up with something pretty juicy. How could you miss?

Urged on by the IRS, half of the Indian army has been digging around Jaigarh Fort for a fortnight without success, and the search has been called off. The quest of the legendary treasure of Jaipur has failed. So far.

It so happens that I and a crew of Pomona ditchdiggers, an archeologist from the Claremont Graduate School and a local pawnbroker have booked passage next month on a freighter out of Newport News, bound east for New Delhi. Stay tuned to your loco station.

Dr. Lamb

Ulcer incidence rising in U.S.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A friend of mine has been suffering from bleeding stomach ulcers for several years. His last attack resulted in a serious loss of blood, about two and a half pints.

He was hospitalized and given blood. His doctor tells him, "It's your ulcer, you are the only one who can cure it."

I have read that ulcers are being treated successfully by surgery. Is this true? I would appreciate your opinion.

DEAR READER — No doubt the doctor is talking about the effects of stress on ulcers. Peptic ulcers are another disease of the century. They were most uncommon before 1900. The ulcers that did occur were most likely to be in the stomach rather than the more common duodenal ulcers which your friend probably has.

About one in four men develop peptic ulcers at some time. That's quite high for a disease that was seldom seen 75 years ago.

The job pressures, efforts required for material success, increased domestic demands related to financing a family and related social pressures all take their toll.

So does the increased use of coffee, colas, tea and caffeinated drinks, not to mention alcohol and cigarettes.

Yes, surgery is used in selected cases — usually those which cannot be successfully managed with more conservative methods. It is not without its complications. Surgery will not eliminate stress or correct bad habits, such as smoking cigarettes, or resolve domestic problems.

Sometimes a person is better off to change his lifestyle — including changing jobs or career objectives.

If proper attention to lifestyle, changes in habits and adequate medical treatment are not sufficient then recurrent attacks, particularly with complications such as hemorrhage, warrant consideration of surgery.

To give you more information on ulcers I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-5, Ulcers: Duodenal, Stomach. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A few weeks ago my husband had symptoms of venereal disease. After going to a local physician and having a lab test made the results showed positive according to the physician. This has caused much pain and anguish and a separation. My husband said there was no way he could have acquired this except from me and I could not have acquired it except from him.

We are totally confused and are seeking answers. Is it possible to get VD any other way except by sexual intercourse, and if so, how?

DEAR READER — Such an experience is certainly life shattering. It requires careful mature judgment in such situations to avoid making rash judgments you may both regret later.

You did not say what kind of venereal disease developed. However, syphilis can be transmitted without sexual activity. It has to be quick as the germs survive in moisture only at body temperature. But innocent transmission can occur from kissing an infected person and also from a moist infected droplet on a glass.

And as I have mentioned before in this column some laboratory tests for syphilis can give positive results in individuals who never have had syphilis.

Banish those worries

During the First World War some church folks in London entertained a company of American soldiers who were on their way to battle. At the close of the evening, one officer stood up to express his thanks to the English congregation for their hospitality to his group of American servicemen away from home and about to face the enemy. The grateful commander from Iowa cracked jokes and closed saying, "We're leaving now for France, the trenches, and maybe to die."

He didn't mean to say that. He was embarrassed. Trying to recover he asked, "Can anybody tell us how to die?" There was an awkward, prolonged silence in which no one said anything.

Then someone walked quietly to the piano and began to sing the aria from Elijah, "O Rest in the Lord." Soul after soul was moved close to God in the sobering moment!

Let your worries take you by the hand and lead you to God in prayer and you will grace your worry with glory!

Now it's claimed the macrozamia trees of Queensland, Australia, are the oldest living things on earth, some most probably being 15,000 years of age, three or four times as old as the most elderly California sequoias.

Maybe you didn't realize that Salt Lake City, Utah, gets about 17 inches of snow per year more than does Fairbanks, Alaska. For that matter, Santa Fe, N.M., gets more snow than does New Haven, Conn., too.

SECRET SERVICE

Q. "Who's the Secret Service agent that guards Mrs. Jimmy Carter and daughter Amy?"

A. Can only report she's a willowy blonde of extraordinary good looks who carries a .357 Magnum pistol under her coat. The Secret Service doesn't want to give out her name. It's known, though, she's pretty nifty in that craft called Karate. She wears a miniature radio transmitter on one wrist and a little receiver in one ear.

Don't know whether that Russian ruler named Catherine the Great was all that great, but do know she wasn't a Russian. She was German. The daughter of Prince August Christian of Anhalt-Zerbest and his wife Princess Johanna Elizabeth of Holstein-Gottorp.

LONGEST CIGAR

A cigar more than 16½ feet long, that's what the Connecticut tobacco growers hand-rolled. Took them 11 hours. How long it would take to smoke that world's longest cigar nobody knows. It was put on permanent display at the city hall in South Windsor, Conn.

Time you spend vital in figuring tax deductions

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

When you spend can sometimes be as important as what you spend in determining income tax deductions.

It is none too soon to start thinking about next April's tax bill, deciding whether you want to spend now or delay purchases until 1977.

The idea is to use the deductible expenses where they will do the most good. If you lump medical expenditures, charitable contributions, etc. into one period or the other, you may be able to cut your taxes by having itemized deductions greater than the standard allowance.

(The standard deduction currently is 16 per cent of adjusted gross income — after business expenses, but before most other deductions — with a maximum of $2,400 for single persons and $2,800 for married couples.)

Now, figure out whether there will be any big difference between your income this year and next. Deductions generally increase in value with the size of income. If, for example, you are paying 10 per cent of your taxable income in taxes, you save $10 for every $100 in deductions; if you earn more and are in the 25 per cent bracket, you cut $25 off your tax bill for every $100 in deductions.

If you expect your income to drop — because of retirement, for example — it probably pays to spend now so you can have the deductions for a year when your earnings are high. If you expect your income to rise — a new job, a working spouse — you may want to save the deductions.

Even if your income will remain about the same, timing can save money. Here's an example from the tax experts at Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank:

Assume that for both 1976 and 1977 you expect to qualify for the maximum standard deduction of $2,800. Your itemized deductions will probably run no more than $2,700 for either year, so at first glance it would appear that you would be better off settling for the standard allowance and getting $5,600 in deductions for two years.

Suppose, however, you have $500 worth of deductible items for which the bills are due in January. By paying them in December, you bring your 1976 itemized total to $3,200. You have cut $500 off your 1977 total, but it doesn't matter. You can take the $2,800 standard allowance in April 1978 to get a two-year deduction of $6,000.

For someone in the 30 per cent bracket, the extra $400 in deductions means an extra $120 savings.

In order to take advantage of the timing plan, you have to know which items you can shift. It is hard for people whose money comes from wages to shift income; the year's last paycheck counts as 1976 income, even if you don't deposit it in the bank until January.

Deductions are easier to shift. You can pay medical bills early, for example. Suppose you have pledged $200 to a charity. You can make good on the pledge now instead of next year if you want to boost the 1976 deductions or vice versa. Sales taxes on major purchases add up. Do you want to buy a new car now — and get the sales tax deduction for 1976 — or in January when the deduction will go toward the 1977 tax bill.

No matter how much you wind up paying, you'll find taxes taking a far bigger chunk of your earnings than they used to.

The Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations put together some figures on the tax burdens of families at different income levels. For the purposes of the study, the commission estimated the average family income at $5,000 in 1953 and at $14,000 in 1975.

The commission said that all taxes — federal, state and local — represented just under 12 per cent of the average family income in 1953 and almost 23 per cent in 1975, an increase of more than 90 per cent.

The biggest increase came in state and local income taxes. The average family paid only about one-third of a per cent of its income in these taxes in 1953, compared with almost 2 per cent in 1975.

The next biggest increase was in the area of Social Security taxes, which took 1.1 per cent of the average family income in 1953 and 5.9 per cent in 1975.

PUBLIC NOTICE

PUBLIC HEARING
CALIFORNIA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION
AND PORT OF LONG BEACH

Pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act of 1970, as amended, notice is hereby given to all interested persons and organizations that a Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR) has been completed for the:

SOHIO WEST COAST TO MID-CONTINENT PIPELINE PROJECT

The proposed SOHIO (Standard Oil, Ohio) project consists of a three berth marine terminal, 4.92 million barrels of storage/surge tankage within approximately 12 miles of the terminal, connection with local distribution pipelines, 1,000+ miles of pipeline from Long Beach to Midland, Texas. Almost 800 miles of the pipeline is already in place and is presently used to transport some of the natural gas supply to California from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. A system already exists to transport crude oil from Midland, Texas to the midwest and Gulf Coast markets. The purpose of the proposed system is to provide a means of delivering North Slope (Alaskan) oil to Southern California refineries plus the capability of transmitting oil surplus to California's needs to the midwest.

The SOHIO EIR consists of an extensive analysis of the anticipated environmental impacts expected during construction, operation and maintenance of the proposed crude oil transmission system. Potential mitigation measures are also suggested for the proposed impacts. Accompanying this analysis is an examination of the marine traffic flow patterns along the tanker delivery route between Valdez, Alaska and Long Beach, California. The energy supply and demand situation as it relates to the movement of energy sources located in the United States also is evaluated together with an examination of potential alternative sites for marine terminals and various related transmission routes for delivery of Alaskan crude oil to the midwest.

Copies of the Draft EIR are available for public inspection at the following municipal/county libraries: Long Beach Municipal Library, Hacienda Heights County Library, La Puente Library, Chino Branch Library, Pomona Library, Pico Rivera Library, Downey Main Library, Montebello Library, South Gate/Hollydale Library, Paramount Library, Ontario City Library, Fontana Branch Library, Rialto Library, Colton Library, San Bernardino Public Library, Redlands Library, Loma Linda Library, and Desert Center Lake Tamarisk Library. Persons wishing to know the location of copies other than those at municipal/county libraries can call (213) 437-0041 or (415) 557-3816 and request help in locating same.

Three public hearings on this Draft EIR are scheduled as follows:

1. 10:00 a.m. Tuesday, November 30, 1976, 6th Floor Board Room, Long Beach Harbor Department Building, 925 Harbor Plaza, Long Beach, California.
2. 10:00 a.m. Monday, December 6, 1976, Los Angeles County Supervisors Board Room, Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple Street, Los Angeles, California.
3. 10:00 a.m. Tuesday, December 14, 1976, Council Chambers, City Hall, 300 N. "D" Street, San Bernardino, California.

The presentation of the nature of the proposed project and associated impacts and proposed mitigation will be from 10:00 a.m. until noon. This will be followed by public comments, questions and suggestions beginning at 1:30 p.m. Written comments will be received until 10:00 a.m. on December 20, 1976. Address comments to:

Privacy stressed in computer payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Privacy safeguards should be strengthened before banks begin widespread use of computerized payment systems replacing cash and checks, witnesses told a new government commission today.

Alan F. Weston of Columbia University said the electronic systems will require laws forbidding use of financial records except for purposes authorized by the subject. Use of the computerized systems, now in effect in some areas, is expected to become widespread within a few years.

Weston, an expert on privacy, told the opening hearing of the National Commission on Electronic Funds Transfers that the systems could allow "unprecedented feats of surveillance" over citizens.

The commission was established to make recommendations on new laws that may be needed to adjust to electronic financial systems. Experts predict that the automated networks will largely replace the present paper-based system of cash and checks in coming years.

The electronic systems would allow computer data banks to accumulate "far more personal information than is presently collected by any single financial, retailing, or credit reporting institution," Weston said.

Weston said present privacy safeguards on use of financial data "are in serious disarray." He called for "a new conception of the individual's right to control the profile of his or her financial transactions."

These computerized records "ought not to be thought to become the property of the electronic system, able to be sold by them to business advertisers, political candidates, religious groups, civic causes, magazines, or Fruit of the Month clubs without the say so of the financial account holder," he said.

Weston predicted "cries of outrage" from segments of the direct mail industry over such safeguards. He said the industry has been buying and selling profiles on consumers for decades with no control by the individual.

"The sooner American consumers wake up to the fact that amassed personal facts about them are becoming the necessary currency of marketing in our economy, the sooner we will have a new and more humanistic exchange theory for the electronic age," he said.

Charles C. Marson of the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation of Northern California made similar recommendations.

"A data subject's privacy interest in the data concerning him or her should be recognized by statute," he said.

Marson said the greater potential for amassing information on individuals of the computerized systems "argue for even greater protection of privacy."

PUTTING ON THE HEAT — Motorists traveling the coast road near Trigg, western Australia, had cause to be curious about the hovering helicopter which was dipping a strange looking object into the ocean. The aim was to warm up the water with a huge immersion heater to give bathers an early start in the summer surf.

Woman freed in 1965 love triangle slaying is dead

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Candice Mossler, the flamboyant blonde acquitted in 1965 of murdering her wealthy husband in a love triangle, died in her sleep Tuesday, police said.

Officials of the Fontainebleau Hotel said a secretary found Mrs. Mossler dead in her room. No cause of death was immediately established.

Police said there was no indication of foul play. Birth records show she was 62, but she maintained she was seven years younger.

A hotel spokesman, Harold Gardner, said Mrs. Mossler was in good health when she arrived from Dallas on Monday night. Officials said she was in Miami for the monthly board meeting of the Central National Bank, one of three banks she controlled.

In 1965, Mrs. Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were acquitted of murder in the death of Jacques Mossler, who was found beaten in his Key Biscayne apartment.

During a sensational trial, testimony showed Mossler died June 30, 1964 of 39 stab wounds and a blow to the head. Neighbors said they heard him screaming, "Don't, don't do that to me."

Prosecutors charged Mossler was murdered by his wife and Powers because of hatred, love and money. The defense, however, pictured Mossler as a ruthless businessman and sexual deviate with thousands of enemies who could have killed him.

Ancient organ

The 17th and 18th centuries were the golden age of organ music, but music for the organ was being written and played even in the days of Rome. Ktesibios, a Greek engineer described a "hydraulis" or water-powered organ around 250 B.C. Saint Hieronymus, who died in A.D. 420, told of an organ in Jerusalem whose notes could be heard at the Mount of Olives almost a mile away.

Carter hope for consumer —Nader

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ralph Nader, branding President Ford "the single most powerful reason" for blockage of consumer protection legislation, says "Jimmy Carter comes out ahead" on many consumer issues.

On the candidates' stand on tax reform, Nader told a news conference "The choice is simple. The choice is between a failure and a hope, and I take the hope."

Nader said Ford had "failed" on tax reform. He thought with Carter as president "we're likely to see a more comprehensive approach to tax reform."

On consumer issues, Nader said he was generally disappointed with their performances in the campaign, but he thought Carter comes out ahead on that score.

"Jimmy Carter comes out way ahead of President Ford on a whole bunch of consumer issues," Nader said. He added that Ford was "the single most powerful reason" that effective consumer legislation had been blocked.

U.S., Egypt sign pact on wheat

CAIRO (AP) — The United States and Egypt signed an agreement Tuesday providing credit for Egypt's purchase of one million tons of wheat and 4,000 tons of tobacco for a total of $137.2 million, the American Embassy announced.

The sum is to be paid back over 20 years with a 2 per cent interest rate during an initial two-year grace period and 3 per cent thereafter, the embassy said.

The one million tons of wheat, to be provided over the coming 12 months, represent approximately 30 per cent of Egypt's annual wheat imports, informed sources said.

During the 1976 fiscal year, the United States provided Egypt with 1.35 million tons of wheat plus other agricultural commodities valued at $218.3 million, the sources said.

The agreement was signed by Egypt's minister of commerce and supply, Zakaria Abdel Fattah, and American Ambassador Hermann Eilts.

Nobel Prize winners criticize Ford

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Ten Nobel Prize winners criticized President Ford on Tuesday for politial partisanship and inaccuracy in his statements about America's sweep of four Nobel Prizes.

The Nobel laureates, only one of them a winner this year, said in a joint statement issued at Harvard University that Ford's budget had not encouraged the growth of science in the United States.

Americans recently were named winners of the 1976 Nobel Prizes in literature, economics, medicine, physics and chemistry, the first time a single country has won all of these in one year. The Nobel Peace Prize was not awarded this year.

Last week Ford used the Nobel awards to try to rebut a charge by Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter that the United States has lost respect around the world because of Ford policy failures.

"These doubts," Ford said, "were surely put to rest" by the Nobel Prize announcements in Stockholm.

Ford made the comments while awarding the National Medal of Science to 15 U.S. scientists. He also used the occasion to praise the Nobel winners.

"Nobel Prizes usually reflect work done over long periods of time. This year's prizes do not therefore reflect this year's strengths," said Prof. George Kistiakowsky, a National Medal of Science winner in 1965 and a former science adviser to President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"The current appropriation for the National Science Foundation, corrected for inflation, is actually 10 per cent lower than it was in the year when Mr. Ford took office," said Kistiakowsky, who served as spokesmen for the Nobel Prize winners although he is not himself a Nobel winner.

"His partisanship was unfortunate and his implicit claims inaccurate," Kistiakowsky said.

The Nobel Prize winners who signed the statement were Kenneth Arrow, who won a Nobel Prize, in economics in 1972; Julius Axelrod, who won the prize for medicine and physiology in 1970; David Baltimore, medicine and physiology in 1975; Owen Chamberlain, physics in 1959; Carl Cori, medicine and physiology in 1947; Donald Glaser, physics, 1960; W. N. Lipscomb, chemistry, 1976; Salvador Luria, medicine and physiology, 1969; E. M. Purcell, physics, 1952 and George Wald, medicine and physiology 1967.

Bridge by Jacobys

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North's two-spade bid was designed to play the hand there. He felt that two spades would be a lot safer than one notrump and had no desire to play in game.

Normally South would pass right there, but South had a full 18 high-card points for his notrump, including three spades with two of three top honors. In addition, his notrump was based almost entirely on aces, kings and quick tricks. He decided to try for game in spite of his partner's sign off and rebid two notrump.

North looked over his hand with four high-card points and decided that South was showing both a maximum notrump and good spades. Six spade tricks, plus three other tricks would come to nine, and North went on to game.

A heart or diamond opening would give South his ninth trick, but West opened a club and it was up to South to pick the way to get trick number nine. He ducked a couple of clubs, but won the third one, ran his spades and finally came to the correct decision, finessed against the king of diamonds and had his nine tricks.

Feminist casts new roles

'Herstory' author content not to win

BALTIMORE (AP) — The woman who invented a feminist parlor game called "Herstory" admits she's never won it, and she adds, "When men play, I usually place third or fourth."

But Sharon Donovan, 32, said she's content to let others succeed at the game, which started as an assignment for a course on "Sex Roles and Social Inequities."

"Herstory" is similar to most board competitions, Ms. Donovan, who prefers that designation, said in an interview. Players roll dice and move a designated number of spaces, with the winner the first to reach the block marked "Herstory."

Along the way, they pass over squares marked "Vote," "Exit from Home," "Go Home" and "Go to Work." There are special cards marked "Pay Checks," "Awards Certificates" and "Style Bulletins."

The board is sprinkled with drawings of items associated with women, like pots and pans, and with tools of predominantly male trades, such as the T square used in carpentry.

The game can be played either by older children or adults answering questions about women in history, or by younger children simply moving through the board and skipping the questions.

She said many of the questions concern figures important to the history of the women's movement, but who may be little known, such as the suffragette Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

Ms. Donovan said that while she was studying at the University of Maryland - Baltimore County five years ago, she wanted to come up with a simple game to teach children about women in history. So she took apart another child's game and painted the "Herstory" steps over the board.

She got an 'A' on the project, but promptly filed it in a desk drawer. In 1973, hearing that Ms. Magazine was interested in developing nonsexist toys, she brought it out again and redesigned it with the help of an artist, and a Baltimore teacher friend.

Thinking it "looked beautiful," they sent the game to the magazine, but Ms. called a few days later to say that, although the game looked good, it didn't work.

"We hadn't played it," Ms. Donovan said with a laugh. When they did try it, she said, "it was so boring."

Four new versions were drawn up, with testing and refinement in the teacher's classes. They picked the best and submitted it to several game companies. The game is now being marketed by a Chicago firm in conjunction with Ms. Magazine, she said.

Ms. Donovan said there were problems coming up with a game that would teach children about women in history without appearing to demean men or the home.

"We were dealing with a really touchy subject, and we wanted to do it with honesty and integrity, and we didn't want to put anybody down," she said.

Coronado Islands to re-open in November

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—A Mexican official says the Coronado Islands 17 miles southwest of San Diego's Point Loma will be re-opened to the public during the second week in November.

The four Coronados were closed in 1954 because of abuse by visitors of the wildlife and ecology.

Horacio Gallegos Gamiochipi, national park director of Mexico, said Monday visitors only will be allowed to land at the cove on South Island that is the site of the old Coronado Yacht Club gambling casino.

The building has been out of use since 1936, when gambling was banned in Mexico, but will be restored and used to house park personnel, a restaurant, a first aid station and a pro shop.

He said visitors will be closely supervised and must anchor boats at designated spots, rather than in underwater park areas where there could be damage to marine fauna.

He said divers will be allowed to use cameras, but no spear guns will be permitted and no rocks or fish or materials can be taken from the ocean.

Starts Thursday, October 28.

Lockheed cites independence

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s board chairman says within six to eight months the company will no longer need the federal loan guarantees on which it has depended since 1970.

Robert W. Haack told reporters recently the company's financial position is improving steadily and there are strong indications the 24 banks lending Lockheed money will agree to do without the government aid they once demanded.

"There are some banks who are willing to give up the guarantees at this moment," said Haack. "But I think the majority of them would rather wait another six to eight months to see that our refinancing is concluded and that a number of internal matters are taken care of. At that time, I think they can be persuaded to drop the guarantees."

Congress, after a legislative battle in 1970, passed a law authorizing the government to guarantee $250 million in bank loans for Lockheed. The action was just in time to stop bankruptcy by debt-plagued Lockheed.

The government-backed loans now total about $140 million.

Debate over the federal aid to Lockheed had intensified since last fall when the aircraft firm disclosed it had made more than $25 million in questionable payments to officials of foreign governments.

Haack said he feels canceling the guarantees would be greeted with a "sigh of relief" by politicians in Washington as well as executives at Lockheed's corporate headquarters in Burbank, Calif. The guarantees have proven expensive and burdensome for Lockheed because of government controls over management that accompanied them, he said.

Who will QB Rams?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three Los Angeles quarterbacks have proven they can play and win in the National football League, but Rams Coach Chuck Knox wishes he had just one who would stay healthy.

Last year's regular quarterback, James Harris, began this season on the sidelines nursing a broken thumb. Ron Jaworski replaced him, but went out with a broken shoulder. Rookie Pat Haden then moved into the starting role, but he was knocked out of action with a concussion two games ago.

This week is an unusual one for Knox, in light of the way the season has been going-he has all three quarterbacks at practice.

Haden is the only one who is considered completely healthy, but both Harris and Jaworski are throwing and hope to impress Knox enough to win the starting role Sunday against the Seattle Seahawks.

Harris returns after a two-week layoff with a bruised shoulder. Jaworski, although still not 100 per cent healthy following a shoulder injury suffered six weeks ago, appears nearly recovered and played three quarters last Sunday against New Orleans.

Knox said he will base his decision on Sunday's starter on "who's healthy and on performance."

Harris, if he is throwing well in practice this week, has the inside track on the starting job against the expansionist Seahawks.

But Haden, who returned to action briefly last Sunday after suffering the concussion the previous week against the Chicago Bears, was impressive against the Saints.

The Rhodes scholar hit Harold Jackson with the winning pass in the final quarter of Los Angeles' 16-10 triumph, and connected with Ron Jessie later to get the Rams out of a hole.

"Haden has played very well," Knox acknowledged. "He's made things happen. But in defense of Jaworski, it was not all his fault Sunday. We took him out because we needed to make a change at that point."

Constantly changing quarterbacks has hurt the Rams, Knox said, even though Los Angeles has reached the midpoint of the season with a 5-1-1 record.

"With a different quarterback every week or two we can't get the timing down," said Knox. "What we need most is a quarterback who can play the next seven games."

Knox said that so far, "We're doing it with defense and big plays. The defense is yielding some yards, but few points.

"Our big play men-Jackson, Jessie and Lawrence McCutcheon-are carrying us on offense."

Robinson likes Heisman honor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some criticism has been leveled recently at the Heisman Trophy selection process, with detractors claiming the voting system is antiquated, and that the award is given each year to the college football player with the best statistics, not necessarily the best player.

Southern California Coach John Robinson, however, still thinks the Heisman is a good thing.

"I know some people have been saying negative things about it," the Trojans coach said Tuesday, "but I think it's great. I think awards are good for football in general."

Robinson, whose fourth-ranked Trojans entertain California Saturday, has one of the front-runners for this year's Heisman Trophy, running back Ricky Bell, on his team.

Bell and Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett, who set a college career rushing record last Saturday, are generally conceded to be the leading contenders for the college football's top individual award.

"It looks like a two-man race to me now," Robinson said.

Bell, the top rusher in the nation last year and leading again this season with an average of 179.93 yards per game, perhaps lost some ground in the Heisman race last Saturday when he went out early with a hip injury in the Trojans' 56-0 rout of Oregon State.

Robinson said he thought it was wrong that the player who finishes second in the Heisman voting is sometimes considered a loser.

"Looking at those two, Dorsett and Bell, they're both exceptional players; they both probably deserve to win the Heisman Trophy. I hate to see a winner-loser type thing associated with it.

"I know when Anthony Davis finished second to Arichie Griffin in 1974," Robinson continued, "he said he was flattered, that Griffin was one heck of a player."

Bell is expected to be in good shape for the California game, Robinson said.

Although he was sidelined after only six carries, Bell gained 68 yards and scored the Trojans' first touchdown.

The Trojans will go into the California game heavily favored, but last year they were 7-0 and ranked fourth when they were upset 28-14 by the Golden Bears.

Phillies shop for infielders

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies are in the market for a new right side to their National League East Division championship infield, according to General Manager Paul Owens.

First baseman Dick Allen definitely is gone and All-Star second baseman Dave Cash, who has played out his option, has reached a contract impasse with the club, Owens said Tuesday.

"We are just too far apart in money," Owens said of the negotiations with Cash. "He is asking much more than his worth."

Without a contract, the 28-year-old Cash would be placed in the re-entry draft for free agents next month. The Phillies could fill his slot by picking up Bobby Grich, the Baltimore Orioles' All-Star second baseman, who is also playing out his option.

Owens expresssed a fondness for Grich. "He is probably more well rounded, at least defensively, than Cash," said Owens "Grich is good and strong, sturdy and can hit 15 home runs in a season."

Cash, seeking a five-year contract worth seven figures, hit .284 last season and led the league in triples with 12. He added stability to a young club after being obtained from Pittsburgh in a trade prior to the 1974 season.

Owens said flatly that Allen, who failed to show for two games in July and then caused an uproar by not joining the team on a September trip to St. Louis, would be gone. "He will not be with me next year, I'll tell you that," Owens said. "Really, I think he can still help someone. Maybe he still can find his right team — but it won't be ours."

Owens said two American League clubs had expressed interest in the 12-year veteran. Allen, who signed a contract worth an estimated $250,000 for the past season, hit .268 with 15 homers.

Owens said he told Allen before the World Series, "Dick, you do not fit in my plans next year."

Owens added, "It should'nt have shocked him or anyone else because it had been in the newspapers and the stories were correct ones. No manager of mine has to go through what Danny Ozark went through during September."

The Phillies may move Greg Luzinski, their All-Star outfielder, to Allen's spot at first base. Owens mentioned nothing of those plans but said the 225-pound Luzinski, known affectionately as the "Bull," must shed some weight.

Weary Kings enjoy rally

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two days rest and "a hang of a play" made the difference for the work-weary Los Angeles Kings who battled to a 3-2 final-minute victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

"We have an impossible schedule," complained Kings coach Bob Pulford before the game. "It's the worst one we've had since I've been coach. If I had been given the opportunity, I never would have given my OK to it."

The Kings, who had gotten a rest between games for only the fifth time this season, slipped past Detroit Tuesday night in a down-to-the-wire contest decided in the final 11 seconds.

Michel Bergeron slammed in the first goal of the night to put Detroit ahead 1-0 at 6:43 in the opening period.

The Kings skated back six minutes into the second period to tie it up at 1-1 on Bert Wilson's first goal of the season. But then Bergeron again connected to give Detroit a 2-1 lead with 32 seconds remaining in the second period.

Butch Goring shot the Kings into a 2-2 tie with 1:41 remaining in the game when he took a pass from Tommy Williams to score from 20 feet out, and it looked like a tie as the final seconds ticked away.

Then Tommy Williams, connecting for his sixth goal of the season, took a pass from Marcel Dionne at the mouth of the goal on a power play and shoved the victory shot past Detroit goalie Ed Giacomin.

"That was a hang of a play to get that pass to Williams," Pulford said of Dionne's pass after the game.

"We would have been fortunate if we had tied. But we were even more fortunate to get the win. We learned a lesson tonight, I hope."

Dionne said he bulleted the puck to Williams more out of instinct than strategy.

"I knew Williams was at the goal and my only thought was to get the shot to him," Dionne said. "He was there at the right time."

Williams, with six goals and nine assists this year, set up Goring's goal in addition to slapping in the game-winner.

"I'm happy when we win and when the team plays well," Williams said. "The most important thing is the team having a good year."

Williams, sidelined last year with a back injury, said he has fully recovered, but has had to work harder than usual to regain his position.

"I came to camp prepared this year and I've worked harder. This is the best year I've ever been off to. I'm healthy." The victory gave the Kings a 5-3-3 record while the Red Wings, winless in their last four road outings, are 2-5-1.

Los Angeles is second behind Montreal in the Norris Division and Detroit, loser of five of its last six games, is fourth in the division.

Jose Cuevas of Mexico retains welterweight title

KANAZAWA, Japan (AP) — Jose Cuevas of Mexico stopped Shoji Tsujimoto of Japan in the sixth round retaining his World Boxing Association welterweight championship.

The end came at 2 minutes 29 seconds of the round after Cuevas already had knocked down Tsujimoto twice early in the sixth, once with a left-right combination and once with a right cross.

With Tsuji against the ropes, referree Carlos Berrocalo of Panama stopped the flight and raised Cuevas' right arm in victory.

For the first five rounds, Berocalo had the score 25-25, judge Roque de Larios of Mexico had Cuevas leading 24-23 and Japanese judge Takeshi Mikimura had Tsujimoto ahead 25-24.

It was the 18-year-old Mexican's first defense of the title he won by knocking out Puerto Rico's Angel Espada in the second round in Mexico July 17.

The victory was the 19th and the 17th knockout in 23 pro fights for Cuevas, who entered the ring as the favorite.

Lakers suffer overtime loss

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kings won their first National Basketball Association game of the season after two losses, but needed an overtime and two clutch free throws from Ron Boone for the 117-115 decision over the Los Angeles Lakers.

Boone scored a game-high 33 points, including six in the overtime, and Laker Coach Jerry West observed he "just burried us. He was good in the ABA and he'll be just as good in the NBA."

The Kings led 55-54 at the half and held an 8 point advantage with 4 minutes remaining in regulation play. They were outscored 12-4 in the closing minutes. Kareem Abdul Jabbar led the comeback with 12 points.

Jabbar pulled down 16 rebounds for the Lakers but fouled out with 2:54 remaining in the overtime.

West said, "Our key is to keep Jabbar out of foul trouble. That's what hurt us tonight."

Cassie Russell topped the Lakers with 31 points, hitting 15 shots from the field.

Forward Scott Wedman contributed 28 points to Kansas City's scoring parade and rookie Richard Washington hauled in 13 rebounds.

A shot from the left-corner by Dwight Lamar tied the score at 105-all in regulation play with 38 seconds left.

Both teams had a chance to set up the winning shot, but Boone stole the ball to abort the Laker effort. He passed to Brian Taylor whose attempted lay-up caught the bottom of the rim.

The Lakers return to Los Angeles with a 1-3 mark.

Jaguars seeking role as Hacienda spoilers

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Ontario High doesn't figure to win the Hacienda League grid title this fall, but the Jaguars will have a large say in who does claim the crown.

For the Jaguars, it's a rather different and much more pleasurable position than in past seasons.

Ontario, after a win over Sierra Vista last week, currently stands at 2-2 in Hacienda League tilts and 3-3 on the year. That ledger is already an improvement over last season's 2-7 mark.

In fact, the three wins represent the most victories in a season for Ontario since 1971, when the school won the Hacienda title. Since then, the Jags have suffered through a 7-28-1 record the past four years, but they have played well this fall under the guidance of veteran skipper Doug Brooks.

Their three remaining league games are against Bonita (this Friday night), San Dimas and Walnut. Bonita, like Ontario, goes into this week's action at 2-2 in league. San Dimas is 4-0, while Walnut is 3-1.

Actually, a win over the Bearcats and an upset of either Walnut or San Dimas could even earn the much-improved Jags a berth in the CIF 2A playoffs in addition to a winning campaign.

Reason for the big improvement at the school is simple; Brooks has come up with some truly fine football players.

True, the Jags still suffer from their usual lack of depth, but the talent is there on the first-string unit to give any Hacienda entry a real battle on a given night.

The Ontario rushing game has been awesome at times this year, led by bruising sophomore fullback Tommy Jefferson. The 6-2, 200-pounder has already rushed for over 600 yards this year, including 190 last week vs. Sierra Vista and 200 vs. Gladstone in the Jags' league opener.

Add to that Larry Cutbirth's 300-plus yards on the ground, and effective running by Bill Haselrig, Mike Rodriguez and quarterback George Vallejo, and it's easy to see why the Jags have been tough to stop on the ground all year.

On defense, Ontario has also been tough, a trade-mark of Brooks-coached teams.

Leading the way for that defensive eleven has been Haselrig, Jeff Shipley and Jerry Cutbirth, Larry's younger brother. Outside of the fourth quarter of the Alta Loma game, the Ontario defense has not played poorly all year.

Bonita, the Jags' opponent this week, has had the strangest season of any of the Hacienda entries. The Bearcats have looked awesome in beating Claremont and Royal Oak, and punchless in losing to San Dimas and Alta Loma.

Last week's 13-7 loss to the Braves really hurt the 'Cats title chances, but if the La Verne lads can regroup they can still win a spot in the 2A playoffs.

Bonita's defense, usually a strongpoint, has been troubled of late with injuries. Ditto for the Bearcat running game, which hasn't been the same since senior Jim Franks broke an arm in the Azusa game and was lost for the year.

Quarterback Sanford Coggins has been the only consistent 'Cat rusher, with 332 yards in six games. However, most of those yards have occurred as Coggins has had to run for his life while trying to pass. He has completed only 31 of 101 tosses this fall, but even that figure is remarkable considering the near-total lack of pass protection he's had.

Chino, Montclair enjoy victories

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

"It was definitely nice to win one," said Chino High head football coach Jim Rawls. "If the kids can remember what it was like to win I think we'll win some more."

Rawls' Cowboys, co-champions of the San Antonio League in 1975, didn't win a game this year until the sixth week of the current season. They stormed back from a 12-0 halftime deficit to beat Upland, 20-10, Friday and improved their record to 1-4-1.

This year's Cowboy team is a young one and is still in flux. "There's no doubt that we lost a lot," said Rawls. Seven Cowboys were named to the Progress Bulletin's All-Valley team in 1975, but six of them graduated in June: running back Rick Riedel, the SAL and Progress Bulletin Offensive Player of the Year in 1975, linemen Marty Edens and Tom McClintock, linebacker Bob McMichael, defensive back Vivi Bernal and kicker Ed Marquez all graduated; tight end and linebacker Pat Krzysiak is the only all-valley returnee.

Two players who would have been seniors this year — quarterback Chris Pruitt and lineman Greg Setlich — moved into Claremont High's district and are now playing for the Wolfpack.

Chino entire offensive backfield for Friday's win was made up of underclassmen. Quarterback Dan Reyes and running backs Mike Bertschinger and Bill Young are all juniors.

Reyes, who had played as a running back earlier in the season, was playing his first game at QB Friday in place of senior John Labrucherie, out with an injured knee cartilage. And Bertschinger was called up from the junior varsity for Friday's game, his first as a varsity player.

Bertschinger responded with nine carries for 39 yards and two touchdowns.

"Mike was able to do that partly because our offensive line was fired up," said Rawls, "but a lot of it was extra effort on his part."

Rawls blasted his team's indifference at halftime and the Cowboys responded with two quick touchdowns to take the lead.

"After that first scoring series (72 yards on five plays) they knew they could win," said Rawls.

Wide receiver Bob Andazola caught a 19-yard scoring strike from Reyes for Chino's second touchdown and what proved to be the winning score. "Andazola played a very good game," said Rawls. "He was open all night." Andazola caught four passes for 90 yards.

Defensively, Rawls has been most impressed by two linebackers, Krzysiak and Alton Rivera.

The Cowboys will face Pomona High Saturday night at Mt. San Antonio College. "Pomona is 0-6 and that scares me," admitted Rawls. "I know they're a lot better than that.

"Pomona's had sort of a jinx on us. I've been at Chino five years and we've only beaten them once. But we hope to break that jinx Saturday night."

Another SAL coach broke a lengthy jinx last Friday.

"Montclair hadn't beaten Claremont since 1966," said Cavalier coach Rich Bare after his squad blanked the 'Pack, 13-0.

The game entered the fourth quarter scoreless before the Cavs registered a pair of TDs. "A couple of passes turned it around," said Bare. Quarterback Darrin Pierce hit speedy wide

'Hen booters visit Titans

SANTA ANA — Pomona-Pitzer's soccer team plays a very important non conference game here against Cal State Fullerton tonight in the Santa Ana Bowl (7:30 p.m.).

"It's very important to us because it figures strongly in the seeding for the district playoffs," said coach Charles Seward. "The points scored in all games, conference and non conference, count and so does the quality of the opposition.

"Westmont, which will be in the playoffs, defeated Fullerton 2-1. It's very important that we get a good seeding in the playoffs, so this is a very big game for us."

The Sagehens (8-1-1 overall) number Stanford among their victims. Fullerton (5-6-1) is not as good this year as last, but still is a higher level team than Pomona-Pitzer and thus a win over the Titans will be of considerable value when the seeding is done.

Two local players are on the Fullerton team. They are Dave Segura from Pomona's Ganesha High and Juan Gonzalez of Chino.

Hoople has good record

By AMOS B. HOOPLE
Forecaster Deluxe

Dear readers, modesty forbids my telling you of the many successes, both past and present, of the justly famous Hoople system. Suffice it to say, a-hem, that my "local" record so far this grid season stands at 83-28-10, which figures out to a 75 percent rate of accuracy. Not too shabby for a fellow who is getting on in years. Kaff-kaff!

Anyhoooo, here we go with another week's action.

That wild pennant chase in the San Antonio League won't be resolved this week, as all three frontrunners will post wins. Look for Garey to avoid an upset, just nipping Claremont 22-21 on Thursday night.

Damien should have it easier Friday, with a 28-7 romp over Upland. Ganesha should also stay in the thick of things, with a 21-12 nod over Montclair. And, in the battle of the SAL "also-rans", look for Pomona High to finally post its first win of the season, with a 20-17 decision over Chino Saturday night. Egad, Devils, it will be worth waiting for!

The leaders in the Hacienda League also figure to post victories. Easy games await Alta Loma, 43-0 over Gladstone, and San Dimas, 39-0 over Sierra Vista. Walnut will have a rough one, however, but the Hoople system still foresees the Mustangs prevailing over arch-rival Royal Oak by a 24-20 count in another Saturday night clash.

Other highlights on the prep scene this week will be Chaffey staying atop the Citrus Belt League race with a 33-19 win over San Gorgonio, La Verne Lutheran will win its first game of the fall, 19-17 over Sherman Indian, and, in a "biggie" in the mighty Christian League, American Christian will best crossvalley rival Calvary Baptist 33-14. This time, Minutemen, let's not be too rough on 'em, okay?

Onward to the colleges. A real treat is in store for all La Verne College fans, as the potent Leos and the rugged Redlands Bulldogs meet this Saturday in a SCIAC crucial. After much ado, the Hoople method tabs it 29-27 in favor of — you guessed it — the Leopards! Kaff-kaff, is another SCIAC title in store for Roland Ortmayer's crew?

Our other two SCIAC teams will not fair nearly as well. Whittier figures to best Pomona-Pitzer 44-21 while Oxy will take Claremont-Mudd, 33-22.

With Mt. San Antonio taking the week off, attention in the junior college ranks will center on the Mission Conference showdown between the Citrus Owls and the Chaffey Panthers.

Those Panthers are a much-improved club under new coach Mike Merandi, and would dearly love to upset John Strycula's powerful Owl eleven. However, such is not to be, as Citrus will have a bit too much of everything for the boys from Alta Loma to handle. Look for the Owls to win it, 21-0.

Conference races get down to the "nitty-gritty" on the national level this Saturday, as Southern Cal takes on California and UCLA meets Washington in a pair of Pacific Eight encounters. Also on tap is a Southwestern engagement between Texas Tech and Texas, and a Big Eight matchup between Oklahoma and Colorado. In the fabled Ivy League, Brown and Harvard will collide in Harvard Stadium.

Meanwhile, down south, in the tough Southeastern loop, Florida will host Auburn, Alabama will entertain Mississippi State and LSU and Mississippi will butt heads in Baton Rouge. In the Western Athletic Conference, Wyoming will move another notch closer to the league title in its meeting with Colorado State University.

The top game in the Big Ten matches high-scoring Michigan and rugged Minnesota at Ann Arbor. On the independent front for your enjoyment, are several good ones including Notre Dame — Navy, Pittsburgh — Syracuse, Army — Air Force and New Mexico — New Mexico State. Jove, dear readers, it's a football fan's dream weekend.

The Southern California — California game is another showdown between a running oriented offense as featured by the Trojans and Ricky Bell, and the aerial attack featuring California's Joe Roth. The Hoople wampum is on the Trojans as Bell moves closer to a 2,000-yard season. Incredible, you say? Well just keep your eyes on this young Trojan. He's — kaff-kaff — a bell ringer! And while the Trojans are winning, the UCLA Bruins will be polishing off Washington's Huskies at Seattle. Make the scores: Trojans 35, California 21, and UCLA 30, Washington 17. Texas Tech's Red Raiders will take the Longhorns, 28-16.

Nebraska's Vince Ferragamo will continue his strong run for the All-America quarterback role, by leading the Cornhuskers past faltering Kansas, 31-14. The Oklahoma Sooners will have a more difficult time disposing of Colorado but should stampede the Buffaloes in the end by a 24-13 count. Brown will give John Harvard's lads all they can handle in this crucial Ivy clash before succumbing 17-14.

The Southeastern Conference title picture will begin to clear up a little as Florida tramples Auburn, 38-12, Alabama slides past Mississippi State, 22-6, and Mississippi upends LSU, 24-21. And before another 101,000 plus in Michigan's cavernous stadium the Wolverines will prevail over the Gophers, 38-15. Wyoming's Cowboys will edge Colorado St. U., 32-22.

Notre Dame and Navy will be returning to jammed Cleveland Stadium for the first time in over 20 years but the local Irish alumni will be elated as the Dan Devine forces win the 50th renewal of this classic by a 35-10 margin. Pitt will continue supreme in the east with a not-too-easy 28-12 triumph over Syracuse. And The Air Force will claim the Service Championship for 1976 by whipping Army's Cadets at West Point, 23-20.

receiver Tony Valverde for 34 and 38 yards within four plays, and Valverde scored the first points of the game on the latter pass.

"Pierce is a smart player and gives us the leadership we need," said Bare.

"We had two pretty good drives in the first half even though we didn't score. Our offense had the ball quite a bit, so our defense was more rested in the second half than it has been in any other game this year."

Montclair's defensive unit, ranked seventh in the valley with an 11.8 points-against average, has been its strength most of the season. "Ken Hartline (end), Doug Combs (linebacker), Terry Shanks (tackle) and Kent Gurney (safety) have been our most consistent defensive players," offered Bare.

Gurney is also a fine running back, but is usually the key target for the opposing defense. "He's done as well as could be expected the way they gang up on him," Bare said.

The Cavs won only one game last year and lost all their league outings, but Bare predicted before this season began that his squad could win half its games.

So far he's right on target: Montclair is 2-2 in SAL play and 3-3 on the year.

But Bare is worried about Friday's opponent. The Cavs will meet Ganesha at MSAC.

"Ganesha is one of the best teams in the league," he said. "Their offense is really explosive. They're good defensively, too, but their offense is really their strength."

The Giants, 3-1 in league play and 3-3 on the year, are half a game behind co-leaders Damien and Garey (3-0), whose game was postponed by weather conditions and a power failure Friday.

Garey will host Claremont (2-2, 2-4) at MSAC Thursday night and Damien will visit Upland (1-3, 1-5).

Pomonan enjoys JC competition

Boettcher works for success

By PAUL CLICK
PB Correspondent

"In a lot of sports it's a game but cross country is work," says Mt. San Antonio College's cross country coach John Norton.

"It takes a person who's dedicated enough to put in many hours of hard work. The reward for running 70 to 100 miles a week is to go out to give a total commitment on a course and come in totally wiped out."

Barry Boettcher, a freshman from Pomona High, majoring in History but who wants to change it to a dual major of History and Physical Education, has what it takes to be a cross country runner.

"He's a super person," noted Norton. "He's a hard worker and you can't say enough about his attitude towards school and the cross country program."

It takes a special type of person to run cross country. It's an exceedingly rugged sport on the individual athlete. An athlete can easily be broken if the individual isn't prepared to hurt in order to achieve success in realizing the joy of finishing with the front runners.

Boettcher, a long distance runner since the eighth grade who wants to become a teacher and coach someday, says, "You just have to stick with it. You learn to hurt a little bit to get where you want to go in this sport."

Runners of Boettcher's character have helped turn the Mountie cross country program around from a dismal 1975 record of 1-6 to a healthy 5-1 record this season. MSAC's only loss was to number one Grossmont.

Boettcher's finest day as a junior college runner this season as a Mountie came at Orange Coast on Oct. 1. He helped MSAC to a double triumph with a clocking of 20:48. He bettered his mark at Grossmont Oct. 15, when he finished 10th at 20:28. His best JC mark to date is 20:25.

Coach Norton commented, "Barry is a very strong kid and he has a very good background in running. He's just a freshman and he's just getting adjusted to the four-mile course." High School courses are only two miles. "It's not an easy thing to do coming out of high school but he's done very well.

"He's got a lot of potential and when he builds up his strength for running the hills, he's going to be an outstandrunner."

Boettcher noted, "The Mountie course is a tough course! It's just about the high school course twice. I say our course is the toughest around but it gives us a psychological advantage when we run against other schools.

"I think I've improved. My strength is a lot better thanks to the coaching staff at MSAC. You find out that your body can take more than you think it can. You have to have endurance or you're just not going to make it."

Racing up and down the hills of the rugged four-mile course that winds and twists tests a runner's stamina. Those who do not pace their tempo find themselves in anguish at the race's conclusion. They're failure is due to their low endurance rates.

Speed alone won't get the job done on the course, although it helps to be swift afoot. Many a darting runner has sped over the first three miles of the Mountie course before running out of gas on "poop-out hill."

"Endurance plays a big part in it. Especially on the Mountie course with those hills," noted Boettcher. "You get to the top of that third or fourth hill and your legs are really tired. You got to have the endurance to keep going."

Very few runners can blitz a course like MSAC has. The trick is to hang with the pack for the first couple of miles. Even the most conditioned athlete crosses the finish line breathless, with facial expressions cringing in pain as the body expresses its agony subjected by the course.

"Speed dosen't play as big a role as endurance," commented Boettcher. "The speed helps at the end. I've found out that I've been able to kick some people down right at the finish with speed. But if you're not in position to win the race its not going to help you. Endurance is the key to winning!"

Boettcher didn't become a cross country runner over night. He started running in the eighth grade. A kid he was chatting with got him interested in marathon running.

Boettcher said, "I got started running in a peculiar way. I was talking to a kid in the eighth grade. He started telling me about marathon running. A mile is a long way! But we went up to the coach and told him we wanted to be his marathon runners. That's how I got started and cross country just naturally followed.

"It bugs me some," stated Boettcher about cross country not receiving nearly enough press coverage. "Without it you really don't get the rewards due you. It's mostly personal satisfaction that you get out of it. For some people like me its enough."

MSAC surprised South Coast Conference experts this season by bouncing back from the worst season in the school's cross country history.

Coach Norton bases the comeback on the fact that MSAC was able to corral some of the top CIF runners in both the San Gabriel and Pomona Valleys.

"The conference is tough!" explained Boettcher. "I thought I would be doing better than I am right now but the competition is definitely there. The junior college programs are much improved over high school."

Last season the SCC placed four of its squads in the top 10 cross country teams in the state. Grossmont, Fullerton, Orange Coast and San Diego Mesa were all rated above the Mounties going into the '76 harrier season. But the Mounties finished second behind Grossmont.

Coach Norton says, "The honor of being called 'Champions' is still a possibility if the team can come through at the SCC finals at Fullerton, Nov. 2, and at the Southern California championships Saturday, Nov. 13, at the College of the Canyons.

"Our guys aren't going to the race (SCC finals) to lose. They're confident that if they put it all together they can win it. We have seven men (including Boettcher) who are equal and could determine the SCC finals.

Poly 'poloists face key games

Cal Poly's water polo coach, Stan Jackson, realizes that this is the week for his team to prove its strength.

The Broncos (9-7) have been preparing for two upcoming contests against California Collegiate Athletic Association foes, that will give Poly a good idea of where it stands in conference.

Poly is hosting Cal State Northridge's Matadors today and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo on Friday in the campus pool. Both games start at 3 p.m.

Those two games will give the Broncos an indication of how tough the CCAA is this season. Poly has already notched a victory in the league with a 14-8 decision over Cal State Los Angeles last week.

In other action last week, the Broncos fell to Occidental College 8-7, and lost a hard-fought game to the Pepperdine Waves, 15-12.

Broncos Steve Evans, Doug Morgan, and Steve Peavler each had three goals in the CSU, LA and Pepperdine games to pace the scoring attack. Peavler added a pair of rallies in the Oxy match for a most successful eight-goal week.

We're going to have to be at our best this week," said Jackson. "This is what all our hard work has been for. Northridge is going to be tough because it has about three tall guys of 6-5 height."

Scots win in tennis, volleyball

Tuesday was a big day for the Upland High girls' athletic teams.

The Scot volleyball squad ran its record to a perfect 3-0 on both the varsity and J.V. levels with wins over host Chino. The varsity downed Chino 15-1, 15-11, while the J.V.s triumphed 15-11, 8-15, 15-12.

The Upland girls' tennis team blanked Chino 6-0 on the varsity level and won 4-1 on the J.V. scene. The Scot varsity netters are now 8-1 in league and 11-1 on the year.

Other SAL volleyball results saw Garey best Montclair 13-15, 15-0, 15-0 on the varsity level, while the Cavs won the J.V. match between the two schools, 15-12, 15-4. Garey is now 1-2 on varsity and 2-1 in J.V. action.

In another SAL match, Pomona Catholic bested Ganesha 15-6, 8-15, 15-10 on the varsity and also won the J.V. clash, 15-11, 15-1. Ganesha is now 2-1 on varsity and 0-2 in J.V. matches.

In an Olympic League volleyball encounter, Ontario Christian beat L.A. Lutheran 15-2, 15-3 on the J.V. level but lost the varsity encounter, 15-11, 13-15, 11-15.

In Garey's big comeback varsity win over Montclair, effective serving by Nellie Tuitau, Marcia Holmes and Karen Rich made the difference as the Viking girls posted their first win of the season.

SAL matches coming up Thursday in volleyball pit Garey vs. Pomona Catholic at Simons Jr. High, Montclair at Chino, Pomona at Upland and Ganesha at Claremont.

Bronco harriers to run at Biola

Cal Poly's cross country team runs in the Biola College Invitational this Saturday at 11 a.m., in La Mirada Park.

The Broncos lost a tough dual meet last week, 21-35, to UC Riverside when their two top harriers were unable to participate in the meet due to injuries.

Fifteen teams in NCAA Division II will be competing in the Biola Invitational. Poly head cross country coach Jim George lists UCR, University of Nevada-Las Vegas, and the Broncos as his top three favorites, to do well in the meet.

As a result of Mark Lotich and Greg Morrison's inability to run last Saturday, the Broncos' top competitor was Chris Carlson. Carlson, a junior who once attended Citrus College, finished third in the race with a 26:26 time.

The Broncs received a big lift in the meet when freshman David Edds ran his personal best time of 26:35.

"Edds beat his seasonal goal of 26:40 in the UCR meet," said coach George. "He was a tremendous surprise for us in that race — he's going to be a tough cross country runner someday."

All George wants right now is to have his top two runners healthy while his other runners are improving.

It's a Racquet

A REPEAT CHAMPIONSHIP for the San Jose Hills Racquet Club? The club's Team A started out in that direction, at any rate, by opening its fall Foothill League season Sunday with an 8-3 trouncing of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory team. Basically, this is the same San Jose Hills outfit that swept undefeated to the league's spring title earlier this year.

In the autumn premiere at Mt. San Antonio College the defending champs overwhelmed the JPL guests in the singles action, winning four of five men's and each of the two women's contests in that category. Helen Wang and Kay Wood collected both points for the women and Lou de la Vega, Mike Streck, Jack Hamm and Chuck Reyes were the triumphant male soloists. Rudy Figueroa and Bob Wang teamed for a San Jose Hills doubles victory and Jeannine Neuer and Reno Frigo picked up another point in the mixed doubles action. Team A's sister team, San Jose Hills' B unit, was less successful in its fall kick-off. A league contingent from the Los Angeles County Road Department defeated the local group, 7-4. Team B winners included Pete Chavez, Steve Grebenstein and Bob Welton in singles and Art Felix and Bill Renwick in doubles.

Team A's next outing Sunday will be in Monterey Park against a new league entrant, an all-Japanese team called People of the Sun. Team B will oppose Santa Fe Springs at MSAC. The fall campaign will be a five-meet schedule for each team.

Martha Harre was the A women's consolation victor and Ted Matek earned the corresponding prize in the men's division.

Dave Roberts has surgery

DETROIT (AP) — Left-handed pitcher Dave Roberts, who won 16 games for the Detroit Tigers this past baseball season, underwent surgery Tuesday to correct tendinitis in his right knee.

The operation was performed at Ford Hospital by Dr. David Mitchell, who termed the surgery a success.

Mitchell said Roberts would wear a leg cast for four to six weeks and is expected to report to training camp in February as usual.

Record crowd turns out for Dr. J

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The crowd came to see Dr. J, but it was George McGinnis who operated on the New Orleans Jazz.

Dr. J—Julius Erving of the Philadelphia 76ers—was held to 10 points but McGinnis scored 37 as the 76ers beat the Jazz 111-101 Tuesday night before a Louisiana Superdome crowd of 27,383—a record for the National Basketball Association. The previous record was 26,511 for a Superdome game last season between the Jazz and Los Angeles Lakers.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the New York Knicks beat the Buffalo Braves 118-104, the Chicago Bulls edged the Milwaukee Bucks 90-88, the Atlanta Hawks stopped the San Antonio Spurs 122-114, the Indiana Pacers whipped the Seattle SuperSonics 120-90, the Kansas City Kings defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 117-115 in overtime and the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Golden State Warriors 11096.

The dome, which seats up to 75,000 for football, has an official basketball capacity of 19,203, but that figure does not include more than 25,000 upper-level seats where the overflow can sit.

The big crowd attraction Tuesday night was Erving, whose $600,000 annual salary makes him the highest paid player in pro basketball. Erving was acquired recently by Philadelphia from the New York Nets after missing the entire training camp and exhibition seasons.

Erving, playing only in the second and fourth quarters, was guarded closely by rookie Paul Griffin and E.C. Coleman and was connected on only one of his patented slam dunk shots.

The Jazz, led by Pete Maravich with 28 points and Aaron James with 22, led by four points in the early minutes. But with three minutes left in the first quarter, Philadelphia took control and held on.

The 76ers, who also got 25 points from Doug Collins, led by as many as 11 points in the second and third quarters and were ahead by 18 in the fourth period.

"This was a big one for us to win because we lost our first two and losing this one would have put us in a hole mentally," said Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue. "It was especially important because we have so many games on the road in the early going."

Knicks 118, Braves 104
The Knicks raised their record to 3-0 as Earl Monroe scored 29 points and Spencer Haywood had 23 points and 15 rebounds against the Braves, who were without three-time scoring champion Bob McAdoo, sidelined with a lower back injury.

Bulls 90, Bucks 88
Chicago saw a 16-point halftime bulge cut to one but hung on to win as John Laskowski hit a long jumper and Artis Gilmore added a stuff shot in the final two minutes. It was the fourth loss for winless Milwaukee.

Hawks 122, Spurs 114
John Drew poured in 33 points and Joe Meriweather, celebrating his 23rd birthday, added 16 points and a career-high 15 rebounds for the Hawks.

Pacers 120, Sonics 90
The Pacers, one of four teams absorbed from the American Basketball Association, took advantage of 29 Seattle turnovers and routed the Sonics for their first victory in the NBA after three losses. Darnell Hillman led the Pacers with 24 points and Wil Jones and Mike Flynn each added 23.

Blazers 110, Warriors 96
Portland reeled off the final 10 points of the third quarter, six by reserve forward Corky Calhoun, in opening an 85-70 lead and the Warriors never threatened. Phil Smith topped the Warriors with 27 points while Bill Walton led Portland with 21.

ABC to show SEC contest

NEW YORK (AP)—The November 6th Southeastern Conference battle between 11th-ranked Georgia and 12th-ranked Florida will be telecast nationally by the American Broadcasting Company.

The game, which will begin at 11 a.m. PST, will be played in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. It will be the first national television appearance this year for both teams.

The game is expected to have a great bearing on the SEC race. Georgia is 6-1 for the season and Florida is 5-1. Florida is unbeaten in SEC action and Georgia has lost only to Mississippi in the conference.

Savier goes to Falcons

ATLANTA (AP) — Wayne Sevier, an assistant coach for the St. Louis Cardinals, was hired Tuesday by the Atlanta Falcons to coach their special teams, a spokesman for the National Football League club said.

Sevier, 35, who played under Cardinal Coach Don Coryell at San Diego State, coached the special teams at St. Louis for the past two seasons.

Hoppin' John wins as 'black-eyed' pea dish

Southerners are noted for their special knack with food. By combining a variety of ingredients and seasoning and cooking them just so, they create especially flavorsome dishes that win praise from diners on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line.

Often the folklore that accompanies a Southern dish is as interesting as the dish itself. Take Hoppin' John, for instance. Some legends say this famous creation, made with black-eyed peas and rice, was named for the custom of inviting a guest to eat by saying "Hop in, John." Others say that the children used to hop around the table once before settling down to eat. Still other stories claim Hoppin' John was named after a famous waiter in a fashionable Charleston hotel.

No matter which story you favor, you're sure to favor the dish especially the version featured here. While Hoppin' John is usually served as a side dish, the addition of strips of beef round steak transforms it into a hearty main course entree. In keeping with Southern tradition, it's made with black-eyed peas, rice and tomatoes. Celery and onion add flavor and texture interest while savory leaves provide a subtle seasoning accent.

Of special appeal is the ease with which Hoppin' John can be made. The entire dish, including the rice, cooks in one pan. The strips of steak are first browned and slowly braised. Then the remaining ingredients are added. All that's left for the cook to do is tend to the rest of the meal and wait until serving time.

Like so many Southern dishes, this one is a budget-stretcher. All the ingredients fall into the less expensive category, including the round steak, an especially economical steak choice.

BEEF HOPPIN' JOHN

- 2 pounds beef round steak, cut ¾ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon savory leaves
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup water
- 1 cup rice
- ¾ cup thinly sliced celery
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 can (16 ounces) black eyed peas
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes

Cut round steak in strips ⅛ inch thick or thinner and 2 to 3 inches long. Brown strips in lard or drippings and sprinkle with salt, savory leaves and pepper. Add water, cover tightly and cook slowly 30 minutes. Remove meat. Add rice, celery and onion to pan liquid. Return meat to pan and add black eyed peas and tomatoes. Cover tightly and continue cooking slowly 45 minutes or until rice and meat are done. 6 servings.

Note: When round steak is partially frozen, thin strips can be cut more easily.

While round steak, cut from the round section of the beef, is a less tender cut, the slow cooking in a small amount of liquid assures that it will be fork tender by serving time. Cutting the steak into thin strips not only helps maximize tenderness but also minimizes cooking time.

Look to other Southern favorites to complete the menu. Fried apples, sweetened with brown sugar and spiced with cinnamon, make a nice accompaniment for the Hoppin' John. Cool and crisp is in order for the salad, so how about fresh spinach greens with hard-cooked eggs and bacon pieces tossed with a vinegar and oil dressing. Or serve the spinach hot as an accompanying vegetable. The bread basket is sure to go around more than once when filled with squares of warm corn bread. End the meal with another fine Southern choice — baked custard sprinkled with nutmeg.

PEANUTTY CANDY APPLES

Trick or treat

Peanutty candy apples complete

All dressed up — and someplace to go. That describes the trick-or-treater about to make his rounds. If there's a party at the end of the trail, his evening will be complete.

If you're playing hostess, here are some snacks that will hold their own with the loot in the treat bag. Dress up candied apples for the occasion with a peanut buttery coating, and a few fresh peanuts for good measure.

Start with any good eating apple. Push a wooden skewer into the stem end, dip the apple into a hot sugar syrup blended with peanut butter, and stand it, skewer end up, on waxed paper. If you want to partify your apples with a few fresh peanut halves, press them on while the apples are still warm.

Party food is primarily for fun, but this one is nutritious, too. It's never been proven that it keeps the doctor away, but an unpared apple does provide all the fiber you need in a day. And peanut butter is chock full of good things.

Like the Peanut Candy Apples, popcorn is another good do-ahead snack. Serve it from a bowl set inside a jack-o-lantern. Pour cups of gingerale, then stand back for action.

PEANUT CANDY APPLES

- ¾ cup Peter Pan Peanut Butter, Smooth
- 6 to 8 eating apples
- 3 cups sugar
- ¾ cup corn syrup
- 1 cup water

Wash apples and insert a wooden skewer into center of each apple. In a saucepan, combine sugar, corn syrup and water. Heat, while stirring, until sugar dissolves. Continue cooking to 240 degrees F. on a candy thermometer (or when a small amount of the syrup dropped into very cold water forms a soft ball which flattens on removal from water). Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter. Dip each apple into syrup to coat. Stand apples skewer side up on a buttered plate to cool.

INSIDE WOODY ALLEN

JOHNNY WONDER

The lowest, hottest and driest place in the United States is Death Valley. This is a desert basin that lies mostly in southern California.

The valley got its grim name in 1849 when some of the early prospectors who were rushing to California to find gold died of thirst while crossing this desert wasteland.

Other names in Death Valley are just as sinister, such as Deadman Pass, Poison Spring, Funeral Mountains, and Rattlesnake Gulch.

About 500 square miles of the valley's floor are below sea level, including the lowest spot in North America (282 feet below sea level near Bad Water).

Less than two inches of rain fall on Death Valley's sun-baked desert land each year and the heat sometimes reaches 130 degrees in the shade!

Despite the heat, many kinds of plants thrive here.

You can find coyotes, rabbits, rattlesnakes, birds and many other desert creatures living here, too.

A World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Peanut torte

Thanksgiving feast accent

Thanksgiving was first celebrated in 1621 by the Pilgrims at Plymouth to give thanks for the bountiful crops after a year of hardship. But it took nearly 250 years before Thanksgiving Day became an annual national holiday. President Lincoln issued a proclamation designating the fourth Thursday in November, 1863, as Thanksgiving Day. It happened that this was also the last Thursday of the month that year and all succeeding presidents after Lincoln proclaimed Thanksgiving Day as the last Thursday of November.

A bountiful feast is traditional for Thanksgiving Day. Roast turkey with cranberry sauce is a standard menu item on this American holiday and Thanksgiving would not be the same without it.

Special desserts are also a highlight of the Thanksgiving feast. Suggested here is Peanut Torte, a moist delicious cake with a whipped cream filling. The cake layers are made with bread crumbs, lemon and peanuts. The addition of crunchy cocktail peanuts makes this a truly all-American recipe.

PEANUT TORTE

Makes 8-inch torte

4 eggs, separated
¾ cup confectioners' sugar
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
11/3 cup ground Planters Cocktail Peanuts
Whipped Cream Filling (recipe below)

Grease and line with wax paper two 8-inch round cake pans. Set aside.

Beat egg yolks at high speed on electric mixer until thick. Gradually add confectioners' sugar, beating until thick and lemon colored. Fold in bread crumbs, lemon peel, lemon juice and peanuts. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold into peanut mixture. Pour batter into prepared pans and bake at 325 degrees for 25 minutes, or until done. Remove immediately from pans and place on wire racks to cool.

Prepare Whipped Cream Filling.

To frost, place 1 cake layer on plate; spread with ½ of the whipped cream; repeat using remaining layer and cream. Chill at least 2 hours. Garnish with chopped peanuts if desired.

Whipped Cream Filling: In small bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat 1 cup heavy cream with ¼ cup confectioners' sugar until stiff peaks form; fold in 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel.

SMOKED SALMON LOAF

Smoked fish top appetizer

Here's a sliced smoked salmon loaf that would be a good choice for a bridge lunch. It could be placed on a plate and garnished with hard cooked egg wedges and lemon wedges, or olive or other garnish of your choice.

When served as an appetizer, the slices could be cut in two and put on a cracker so as to eliminate the need for serving forks. It is equally good served hot or cold.

You will find Sliced Smoked Salmon in the delicatessen department of local markets, in 3 ounce packages, wrapped in transparent cellulose see-through green envelope containers.

SMOKED SALMON APPETIZER LOAF

1 3-oz. package (Lascco) Sliced Smoked Salmon
1 cup shredded raw potatoes
¼ cup minced green onion
¼ cup chopped parsley
2/3 cup milk
2 eggs beaten
½ teaspoon dill weed
Pepper to taste

Line the bottom of a 4x-8x2½ inch loaf pan with a layer of shredded smoked salmon. Add a layer of shredded potato, then a layer of onion mixed with parsley. Mix milk, eggs and seasoning, and pour over the layers of salmon and vegetables. Bake at 350 degrees for about 50 minutes. Serve hot at once, or refrigerate for cold service. Slice and serve. Makes 6 servings.

Meal from Mexico

Shrimp gazpacho salad featured

A spectacular entree is this Shrimp Gazpacho Salad. Shrimp cooked to perfection and sliced hard cooked eggs crown a dish of crunchy gazpacho vegetables. Although gazpacho is a traditional chilled Spanish soup, it has inspired here a delicious luncheon or dinner main dish salad.

The shrimp featured in this salad are the large jumbo size, caught in the estuaries off Mexico's Gulf of California, and are known as jumbo bay white shrimp.

To cook shrimp, peel and devein by cutting about ⅛ inch deep with a sharp knife along the outside curve of shrimp. Lift out black vein, wash shrimp under water. Prepare liquid for shrimp by adding 1 sliced onion, 1 bay leaf, 1 celery rib with leaves, ½ sliced lemon, ½ teaspoon pickling spices and ½ teaspoon salt to 1 quart boiling water. Boil broth for 5 minutes longer to allow flavors to develop. Drop shrimp into boiling broth, simmer, covered, for 2 to 5 minutes, until shrimp are completely pink.

GAZPACHO SALAD

Makes 8 to 10 servings

1 cup prepared herb salad dressing (bottled or packaged mix)
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon crushed oregano
¼ teaspoon black pepper
10 medium size mushrooms
4 green onions
2 medium cucumbers
½ cup chopped parsley or cilantro
1 medium green pepper
3 large tomatoes
4 hard cooked eggs, sliced
Sliced pimiento stuffed olives
½ pound jumbo shrimp, cooked, peeled, deveined and cut in half lengthwise
Avocado Topping

In the bottom of a large salad bowl (glass is pretty) combine ½ cup of the herb dressing with garlic salt, oregano and pepper. Set aside remaining ½ cup of dressing for Avocado topping. Thinly slice the mushrooms and green onions, including some of the tops; mix into the dressing in bowl. Pare and thinly slice the cucumbers and layer in the bowl; sprinkle with parsley or cilantro. Remove seeds from green pepper, cut into thin strips and arrange over cucumbers. Peel tomatoes; cut into thin wedges and arrange atop salad. Without mixing, cover and refrigerate 3-4 hours.

Just before serving, toss lightly; cover top with arrangement of sliced eggs, olives and shrimp. Pass Avocado Topping to spoon over all.

AVOCADO DRESSING

Makes about 1¾ cups

½ cup herb salad dressing
1 ripe avocado, diced
½ teaspoon seasoned or garlic salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Coarse ground black pepper as desired

Cranberry aid to many dishes

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Cranberries add their tartness and color to many dishes but too often we cooks fail to combine them with other vegetables or stuffings. They do make a welcome new ingredient in such dishes as a succotash or when combined with pineapple and crumbled corn muffins as a stuffing for baked squash.

Pour lima beans into a one and one-half quart casserole. Dot with butter and pour broth over lima beans. In a skillet fry bacon until crisp. Add onions, cranberries and celery. Saute for 5 minutes. Stir in bread and parsley. Spoon mixture on top of limas. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes. Spoon topping in the center of serving platter. Spoon limas around topping. Makes 6 servings.

Place squash halves cut side down on a buttered shallow baking pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 35 minutes. In a saucepan, mix cranberries, sugar and water. Simmer for 5 minutes. Pour mixture into a bowl. Stir in remaining ingredients adding only one-half of the melted butter. Turn squash right side up on baking pan and fill each with cranberry mixture. Brush squash with remaining melted butter. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes longer or until tops are lightly browned and squash is fork tender. Makes 6 servings.

JANSSON'S TEMPTATION

Tip from Swedish

Jansson's Temptation tasty herring snack

If the only herring you've eaten lately has been a piece at a time out of a jar, you're missing something big. Even if those tasty bits in wine sauce and the tender slices in cream sauce were the best snacking you've ever tasted.

Because these days it's becoming increasingly popular to take those jars of herring and give then a new dimension to the fish that's in them.

Usually the dish that's created is either spectacular in taste or practical for the home table. Maybe both. This recipe certainly produces such a double winner.

Its name alone tells some kind of story. "Jansson's Fretelse." In rough translation from the Swedish, this is Jansson's Temptation. There is a story that Jansson was a man of the cloth whose one inalienable weakness was for this dish of herring and onions and potatoes. No record is shown that he withstood temptation entirely; one can only hope he didn't. He might have missed getting his fill of one of the world's most tempting dishes.

The practical angle of the Temptation is that it is easily prepared and produces six servings from a single 12-ounce jar of Herring in Cream Sauce. Amazing how creative a person can become with a simple food like herring, if one knows what to do with it. The Scandinavians know a thing or two. And Jansson's Temptation is just one of them.

JANSSON'S TEMPTATION

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 3 large onions, chopped
- 6 large potatoes, peeled and cut into ½-inch wide strips
- Salt
- 1 jar (12 oz.) Herring in Cream Sauce, diced
- 1 cup (½ pt.) heavy cream
- ½ cup melted butter or margarine

In a skillet heat butter and saute onions until lightly browned, about 10 minutes. In a greased 9 x 13-inch baking pan, alternate layers of potatoes, onions and herring, ending with potatoes. Sprinkle each layer of potatoes with salt. Pour half of the cream over casserole and brush potatoes with half of the melted butter. Cover with foil and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Remove cover and pour remaining cream over casserole. Brush with remaining butter. Bake uncovered another 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Serve hot garnished with parsley. Yield: 6 servings.

Gelatin tip

If you forget a gelatin mixture until it's too set to fold in other ingredients, warm gelatin to liquid stage for a few minutes, then let it set again to the right consistency. On the other hand, if you're in a hurry to get gelatin to thicken, set in a larger bowl of ice and water.

Spice nut 'birthday' cake for 'ketchup' connection

Therein lies the "ketchup connection" for SPICE NUT BIRTHDAY CAKE, a truly fitting dessert to salute the Centennial condiment.

Tinged with the blush of thick, rich tomato ketchup, this flavorful batter can be baked in a 2-layered surprise or 24 mini-cakes (cupcakes). Either version is complemented with your own icing or cream cheese frosting.

SPICE NUT CAKE

- 2 and 1/3 cups sifted cake flour
- 1¼ cups granulated sugar
- 1½ teaspoons baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 2/3 cup hydrogenated vegetable shortening
- 2/3 cup Heinz Tomato Ketchup
- 2/3 cup milk
- 3 eggs
- 1/3 cup milk
- ½ cup finely chopped walnuts
- Grated rind of 1 lemon or orange

Sift first 6 ingredients together into mixing bowl. Add shortening, ketchup and 2/3 cup milk; beat 2 minutes at medium speed with electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Add eggs and 1/3 cup milk; beat 2 minutes longer. Fold in nuts and lemon rind. Spread batter evenly in 2 greased layer pans (8" x 1½"). Bake in 350 degree F. oven, 35 minutes or until surface springs back when touched lightly with finger. Frost with cream cheese frosting or icing. Makes one 8" layer cake.

CUPCAKES: Using a ¼ cup measure, fill paper-lined muffin pans (3" x 1½") 2/3 full. Bake in 350 degree F. oven, 20-25 minutes. Makes 2 dozen.

Two favorite foods come together in TIC TAC TOE COOKIES — tomato ketchup and peanut butter. A variation of a basic peanut-butter-type cookie, these will be favorites with the lunch box or brown bag crowd.

TIC TAC TOE COOKIES

- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine, softened
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¾ cup chunky or smooth peanut butter
- ¼ cup Heinz Tomato Ketchup
- 1 egg

Sift together flour, soda and salt. Cream together butter and next 3 ingredients until light and fluffy. Add ketchup and egg; mix well. Blend sifted flour mixture well into peanut butter mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet. With fork dipped in flour, press cookie flat, making impression in two directions. Bake in 375 degree F. oven 8-10 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on wire rack. Makes 4½ to 5 dozen cookies.

Tarragon touted

Next time you're surveying the spice rack for just the right seasoning to add to a favorite entree, consider tarragon, suggest the home economists at the National Live Stock and Meat Board. It's a tangy herb that has a unique flavor that will perk up a variety of main dishes. Tarragon is used in the classic French bernaise sauce that is served over broiled steaks. Or try it in any cream sauce served with meats, using one-half teaspoon dried tarragon to one cup hot sauce.

Pumpkin chiffon cake enhances turkey meal

The aroma of golden browned turkey is like nothing else . . . bringing with it visions of happy, hearty friends and relatives amid a bountiful array of succulent dishes that add to the Thanksgiving charm.

Thanksgiving as we know it is vastly different from the one our forefathers celebrated in 1776. For one thing, the Thanksgiving turkey is bigger . . . more succulent and easier to prepare than the ones George and Franklin bit into. Our turkeys are now scientifically bred to have an abundance of white, as well as dark meat. They're nourished on a diet of specially prepared and blended foods to promote plumpness and nutrition, making them high in protein, riboflavin, niacin and iron.

Along with this year's succulently browned turkey, try dew-cold grapes for extra color, candied yams as a sweet vegetable and our recipe for feather light Pumpkin Chiffon Cake swirled with tangy orange frosting.

For Thanksgiving, serve what you know your family loves best . . . and be thankful for the tradition of the delicious TURKEY.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON CAKE

- 2 cups flour
- 1½ cups sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon cloves
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ cup salad oil
- 8 eggs, separated
- ½ cup water
- ¾ cup pumpkin
- ½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg into mixing bowl. Make a well in center; add salad oil, egg yolks, water and pumpkin; beat until very smooth. Set aside. Beat egg whites until foamy; add cream of tartar. Beat until stiff peaks form. Pour batter slowly into egg whites, folding in gently. Pour batter into ungreased 10-inch tube pan. Bake in preheated 325 degrees F oven for 55 minutes. Increase oven temperature to 350 degrees F; bake for 10 minutes longer.

Directions for Roasting a Thanksgiving Turkey:

—To thaw; place frozen turkey, still in its plastic bag, into large brown paper sack, close ends, and allow to thaw at room temperature for one hour per pound; or place turkey, in its plastic bag, into cold water (changing water frequently) and allow to thaw for 30 minutes per pound. Remove plastic bag, remove neck and giblets from cavities, rinse turkey and pat dry with paper towels, then refrigerate immediately or stuff and bake.

—To roast; using ¾ cup dressing per pound, stuff turkey loosely in both neck and body cavities, skewering neck skin securely to back. Fasten legs down either by tying or tucking under skin band. Tuck wing tips under back of turkey.

Place turkey breast-side-up on rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush with melted fat, if desired. If a roast-meat thermometer is used, insert into thick part of thigh. Use chart below as a guide to length of roasting time, allowing an extra half-hour for variance in cooking time.

A "tent" of foil may be placed loosely over turkey to keep it from browning too fast and should be removed the last 30 minutes or so of cooking. Baste frequently.

Turkey is done when: (1) Roast-meat thermometer registers 180-185 degrees F; (2) Thick part of drumstick feels soft when pressed with protected thumb and forefinger; (3) Drumstick and thigh move easily.

Potluck party saver

Is it your turn to take a go-along casserole to a neighborhood potluck party?

Or, do you need a recipe that will add heartiness to a skimpy meal for your hungry family? Look no further, we have the answer right here.

(Mrs. Cubbison's) Corn Bread Stuffin' can solve both problems. You combine the stuffin' with tasty sweet Italian sausage. And, if your supermarket, or near by specialty marker, does not carry this old-country sausage, use American fresh pork sausage that you buy in bulk.

The other integral ingredient in this casserole is fresh spinach. As you know, Italian food features spinach in many of the most delicious dishes and it is a surprise flavor addition here.

Quick to prepare, serve this tasty dressing with barbecued meat or poultry, especially chicken. Recipe may easily be cut in half.

ITALIAN STYLE DRESSING IN CASSEROLE

- ½ pound (about 3 links) sweet Italian sausage
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- 2 packages (10-ounces each) frozen spinach, well washed and chopped
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ¾ to 1 cup broth or water, or use part dry white wine
- 1 (12-ounce) package (2 bags) Mrs. Cubbison's Corn Bread Stuffin'

Remove casing from sausage; crumble into fry pan and saute with onion until lightly browned. Add mushrooms, spinach and butter; stir until butter is melted. Add broth and simmer 3 minutes. Empty bags of corn bread stuffin' into large mixing bowl; pour sausage-vegetable mixture over stuffin' and blend lightly. Spoon into buttered 2½ quart casserole. Cover and bake at 350 degrees 35 minutes. If desired, uncover last 10 minutes to brown top. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Pork supply up

Now is the time to take advantage of the pork specials in the supermarkets. This fall the pork supply is up so prices are down, reports the National Live Stock and Meat Board. For a hearty family dinner sure to please, choose pork chops or pork blade steaks. Or treat with an impressive pork loin roast or smoked half ham for Sunday dinner. Want to add a little variety to your menu? Look to some of the less expensive cuts such as shoulder roasts, cubed steaks, country style ribs, pork cubes and ground pork. A smoked pork shoulder roll (butt) will provide several tasty meals for most families.

Potted shrimp handsome treat

By Gaynor Maddox

Once I was invited to take lunch in the restaurant for the House of Lords in London. The waiter, wearing a gold chain, seemed satisfied with my order of potted shrimp. My host, an earl, ordered them, too. I had not run into potted shrimp since that august moment until recently when I discovered a recipe for potted shrimp in a handsome Christ gift-style "The Complete Book of Preserving." It was a moment of nostalgia.

Preserving to Marye Cameron-Smith means any form of activity that will lengthen the eating time of a food — canning, freezing, smoking, drying or salting — and special recipes which extend the keeping time of food.

The "Complete Book of Preserving" (Bobbs-Merrill, $18.95) contains 219 excellent color photographs, the kind designed to arouse a ferocious appetite. As a gift, it makes an ideal suggestion for better eating days. It actually is a hungry man's book with many wise instructions that run the gamut from crabapple jelly to potted shrimp.

One particularly interesting part is on the curing and smoking of fish. Through it kippered herring and smoked salmon become household friends. Remember this book when you plan your Christmas list. It is a winner.

America still farms and our food still comes from the soil. Yes, even though that fact is sometimes forgotten by our predominantly urban population. A copy of the book "The Face of Rural America" would make people say, "Just what I wanted." This is a photo book of American agriculture published by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is a well-made book in white hardcover with a colorful photo in the center. This Bicentennial record of American farm life contains 315 black-and-white photos and 19 in color. The photos are from 53 different photographers, some private, some from land-grant colleges and some from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This well-edited book gives a picture of what life on the farm in 1976 actually is. That is its purpose — to be a permanent record for future years and for this reason belongs in the library of every thoughtful American, particularly the young, who often grow up without any understanding of what it takes to feed this country's millions. It supplies first-hand knowledge about nature and animals plus several photos of "high life" on the farm.

It may be purchased at government bookstores across the country, for $7.30 or by sending a check or money order to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Day-old bread

If you are looking for ways to use day-old bread, consider these — (1) toasted and cubed for croutons; (2) crumbled dry for casserole toppings, or breadings; (3) dipped in egg and French toasted; (4) crumbed and added to ground meat dishes as an extender; (5) used in a delicious dessert such as bread pudding or apple brown betty. The list is almost endless. Use your imagination and your day-old bread to cash in on the savings and the benefit of the nutritive value bread adds to the daily diet. Remember when it is enriched, the B-vitamins — niacin, thiamin and riboflavin — and the mineral, iron, are part of every slice.

Spice up a sturdy staple

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Potatoes are one of the foods that a child will eat even if you tell him it is good for him. For generations potatoes have been a staple in most parts of the world and new techniques put them in quick reach of cooks. They come frozen, dehydrated and fresh. As the holidays approach you may want to try out a potato spiced pudding on the family before adding it to your buffet table. Make this ahead and reheat before serving.

Thaw and separate 1 block potatoes (will measure 1 and one-half cups). Grease a 6 and one-half cup ring mold. Set aside. Sift flour, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and soda. Set aside. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cream sugar, molasses and shortening together well. Beat in egg, the potatoes and carrot (batter will appear curdled). Gradually stir flour mixture into potato mixture, blending well. Stir in raisins, candied fruits and nuts. Turn into greased ring mold, and spread level. Cover loosely with foil, crimping edges tightly against side of mold. Set in pan with 1 inch hot water. Bake in oven 1 hour 10 to 15 minutes, or until pudding tests done. Let stand 10 minutes, then turn out and cool. Wrap closely in foil to store. Reheat before serving. Serve with Orange Mace Hard Sauce. Makes 8 servings. (Pudding may be steam-baked in 8 individual molds (1 cup capacity). Bake individual puddings 50 to 55 minutes.)

Mix together the sugar, butter, orange juice, orange peel and mace. Blend until sugar is moistened and then beat until light and fluffy. Makes 2 cups.

POTATO KUGEL

Potato Kugel flames Chanukah light feast

Chanukah is the eight-day Feast of Lights which commemorates the victory of Judah and the Maccabean warriors over the Syrians.

Beginning December 17th this year, Jews around the world will give thanks and draw inspiration from this great event which meant the survival of Judaism. Candles will be lighted in every Jewish home — one on the first night, two on the second, and three on the third — and so on up to the eight night when eight candles will be burning. The significance of the candle ceremony is that it recalls the rekindling of the lights of the Temple when the holy place was rededicated after the Maccabean warriors had recaptured it from the Syrians.

There are no food restrictions during this joyous season and Jewish cooks serve festive meals for Chanukah. Suggested here is Potato Kugel, a traditional Jewish dish. The recipe uses Planters Peanut Oil, the all-purpose cooking and salad oil that is acceptable in Jewish kitchens any time of year because it is kosher and pareve.

POTATO KUGEL

Makes 6 to 8 servings
1 cup chopped onion
½ cup Planters Peanut Oil
3 pounds potatoes, pared
2 eggs
¼ cup unsifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Saute onion in peanut oil until tender; remove from heat.

Working quickly, finely grate potatoes. Combine grated potatoes, sauteed onion with oil, eggs, flour, salt and pepper until thoroughly blended. Pour into an oiled shallow 1½ quart baking dish.

Bake at 400 degrees about 1 hour or until golden and crusty.

Daily protein

Chicken thighs are approximately 60 per cent edible, according to the National Broiler Council. Each thigh yields about 2½ ounces of meat and provides about a fourth of the recommended daily protein allowance for the average adult.

Hot yeast rolls with granola make natural favorite

Hot yeast rolls, fresh from the oven, probably deliver more enjoyment per bite than any other morsel known to man. These Refrigerator Nature Rolls deliver an extra measure of goodness through the addition of granola. The cereal offers a nice counterpoint of crunch to the light delicacy of the rolls.

Bread baking used to be a standard part of homemaking. One day would be set aside to bake enough bread to last the rest of the week. And oh, what heavenly aromas and flavors, that first day! Today's cook has it easier. She can bake from choice, when it's convenient, and she is learning that the reward of a homemade loaf is worth the time it takes.

But because bread baking dropped from popularity for a generation or so, the modern homemaker must pick it up on her own. And as with other cooking "from scratch," she is finding that ingredients make a difference.

The shortening used in breadmaking has an important influence on the finished loaf. Shortening improves the browning of bread, and makes it tender. Fine results come from using a pre-creamed all-purpose shortening. In its shimmering white purity, it is a miracle of advancement over the home-rendered fats that Great Granny had to use.

Provide a little of that old-fashioned goodness for your family with these Refrigerator Nature Rolls. Since the dough keeps for up to five days in the refrigerator, you can stretch the benefits of one doughmaking over most of a week. And your family can enjoy "baking day freshness" every day that you bake!

Refrigerator Nature Rolls

Yield: 48 Rolls

1 cup Pre-creamed Swift'ning Shortening
¾ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup water
2 cakes compressed yeast or 4 packages (¼ ounce each) active dry yeast
1 cup tepid water
6 to 7 cups flour
2 well beaten eggs
. . cups granola, slightly crushed

In a saucepan combine shortening, sugar, salt and 1 cup water. Heat slowly until sugar and shortening dissolve. Cool slightly. In a small bowl add yeast and dissolve with 1 cup tepid water. Meanwhile in a large mixing bowl add 3 cups sifted flour, eggs, granola, shortening-sugar mixture and softened yeast. Mix until well blended. Continue to add additional flour until dough can easily be handled. Knead on floured surface approximately 10 minutes. Place in well greased bowl, coating all sides. At this point the dough may be refrigerated up to 5 days covered with wax paper.

To prepare 16 rolls, separate 1/3 of dough, place in warm area and allow to rise until double in bulk, approximately 1 hour. Punch down. Roll into 16 rounded balls. Place in well greased muffin pans. Allow to rise again for 1 hour. Bake in 425 degree F. oven for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Mission figs save cooks in shortage

Although recent cool, wet weather has hurt California's Calimyrna fig crop, making it the smallest on record, another variety, the Mission type, will be in adequate supply and above normal size and quality.

Ron Klamm, managing director of the California Fig Institute, announced that the Calimyrnas are splitting and spoiling because the fruit cannot dry as it should due to the damp weather. He anticipated that growers will deliver around 750 tons of Calimyrnas to processors this year.

HOT YEAST ROLLS

Easy on budgets

Portuguese combo savory soup saver

To keep the cost of a supper reasonable and make serving easy, you may want to consider offering a hearty Portuguese soup as the main course. The soup is a savory combination of beef, sausage, kale, cabbage, potatoes and pinto beans. It tastes delicious with crusty Portuguese, French or Italian bread. We skip salad when we serve this soup. After it, dessert and coffee.

Portuguese cooks use kale in many of their soups and now that this recipe has come into our ken, we understand their favoring the flavor, texture and color this green contributes. Fortunately, chopped kale comes frozen nowadays and is convenient to have on hand.

If you have an electric tureen or one with a candle-warmer, by all means use it for serving the soup at the table. Se-

PORTUGUESE KALE SOUP

2 pounds soup bones
1 pound boneless chuck beef, cut in 1-inch cubes
5 cups water
2 tablespoons beef cond helpings are inevitable — the soup is that good — and the tureen will keep them hot.
bouillon granules
½ pound Portuguese or Spanish sausage (linguica or chorizo), sliced ¼-inch thick
1 medium onion, cut in thin strips
10-ounce package frozen chopped kale
2 cups coarsely shredded cabbage, lightly packed
2 medium (½ pound) potatoes, pared and cut in 1½-inch chunks
1 8-ounce can pinto beans (undrained) or 1 scant cup beans and ¼ to 1/3rd cup liquid from a 16-ounce can of pinto beans
¼ teaspoon pepper

In a large saucepot bring the bones, beef and water to a boil; skim. Add bouillon granules and simmer, covered, for 1 hour. Add sausage; simmer, covered, for 30 minutes. Add remaining ingredients; let bubble gently, covered, until beef and vegetables are tender — about 1 hour longer. With a slotted spoon remove the bones. Refrigerate soup, tightly covered, overnight. Before serving, remove most of the hardened fat from the top. Heat soup and serve in wide soup bowls with crusty bread and sweet butter. Makes 2¼ to 2½ quarts — 4 or 5 hearty main-dish servings.

'Zubeefi' wins beef cook-off honors

Mrs. Alexander DeSantis, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, rang the bell with the judges at the Third National Beef Cook-Off in Salt Lake City, September 17. Although Mrs. DeSantis is a native of Minnesota and lived in Greece for eight years, it was a recipe packed with southwestern flavor that brought home the first prize money of $1,000. Her yeast "Fiesta Beef Torta Ole" with its spicy filling of ground beef round is not a quick recipe, but it certainly is an original one with appeal to those who share her cooking hobby.

Placing second and winning $500 for its creator, Dr. Sam G. Tornik, a chiropractor from Plain City, Ohio, was "ZuBeefi," a layered Italian-style casserole. The third prize of $250 was won by Mrs. Clarence Bowman, Lawton, Oklahoma, with "Italian Round Steak Rolls."

The recipes of state finalists were judged in this national contest sponsored by the American National CowBelles. Because of this record number of entries, two days of judging were required, according to Mrs. Elmo Hoyt, Kama, Utah, chairman of the Cook-Off. Contestants representing five other states received honorable mention: Mrs. Reginald Ray, Wetumpka, Ala.; Mrs. Gladden, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Ronald T. Morin, Sanford, Me.; Mrs. Joseph Van Hese, Troy, Mich.; and Mrs. Betty Noel, Spokane, Wash.

First Place Winner, Mrs. Alexander DeSantis, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania:

FIESTA BEEF TORTA OLE

Beef Filling

- 2½ pounds ground beef round
- 1 package taco seasoning mix
- 1 cup water
- 1 can (16 ounces) refried beans
- 4 ounces Monterey Jack cheese, grated

Dough

- 3¼ to 3¾ cups unbleached flour
- ¾ cup yellow cornmeal
- ¼ cup brown sugar, packed
- 2 teaspoons garlic salt
- 1 teaspoon taco seasoning mix
- 2 packages (1 tablespoon each) active dry yeast
- ¾ cup milk
- 1/3 cup water
- ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
- 2 eggs, beaten

Coating, topping, garnish

- 2 tablespoons cornmeal
- 2 tablespoons reserved beaten egg
- 1 to 2 tablespoons pine nuts, if desired
- 2 jars (8 ounces each) taco sauce, hot or mild, as preferred

Shredded lettuce
Cherry tomatoes
Ripe olives

Prepare dough as follows: In a large bowl, or electric mixer, mix ¾ cup flour, cornmeal, brown sugar, garlic salt, 1 teaspoon taco seasoning and dry yeast. In saucepan, combine milk, water and margarine; heat over low heat until mixture is very warm (120 degrees to 130 degrees), margarine does not need to be melted. Add mixture gradually to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Reserve 2 tablespoons beaten egg. Add remaining eggs and 1/3 cup flour; beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, 5 to 8 minutes.

While dough rises, prepare Beef Filling as follows: Brown ground beef slowly in frying-pan until red color disappears; drain, if necessary, add remaining taco seasoning and water and simmer, stirring occasionally for 15 minutes. Stir in beans and cheese; blend well. Cool slightly.

Grease a 9-inch springform pan generously. Fold a 30 x 6-inch piece of heavy foil in half lengthwise; fasten foil around top of pan to form a collar extending about 2½ inches above rim of pan (as for a souffle); grease inside of foil also. Dust bottom and sides of pan with cornmeal; discard excess. Punch down dough; divide into three pieces. Pat or roll each piece of dough to a round about 9 inches. Fit first round into prepared pan and press at edge to form a slight rim. Spoon in half of the Beef Filling spreading evenly almost to edge of pan. Top with a second round of dough; then place until light, 25 to 35 minutes. Preheat oven to moderate temperature (350 degrees). Score top of torta with a sharp knife into 8-pie shaped wedges. Brush with reserved egg and sprinkle with pine nuts, if desired. Bake 40 minutes, or until a deep golden brown. When almost ready to serve, heat taco sauce in a small saucepan.

To serve: Remove foil and springform rim from torta; place torta on a large platter or plate. Surround with a ring of shredded lettuce, garnished with cherry tomatoes and ripe olives. Place the heated taco sauce in a gravy boat to spoon over torta after it is cut and served. Cut in wedges as indicated. Makes 8 servings.

Second Place Winner, Dr. Sam G. Tornik, Plain City, Ohio:

ZUBEEFI

- 2½ pounds ground beef round
- 2 medium zucchini
- Salt and pepper
- ½ cup olive oil
- 3 medium onions, sliced
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1/3 clove garlic, chopped
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon oregano
- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
- 1 cup small curd cottage cheese
- 2 cups grated mozzarella cheese
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 4 stuffed green olives, sliced
- Butter

Slice one zucchini thinly, season with salt and pepper and fry in olive oil. Place zucchini in a buttered 3-quart casserole. Fry onions, green pepper and garlic in butter in large frying-pan; remove and add to zucchini. Brown beef in frying-pan, pour off drippings. Stir salt, pepper, oregano and tomato paste into meat and cook slowly 3 minutes. Add meat mixture to zucchini; cool 5 minutes. Add cottage cheese and mix well. Sprinkle mozzarella cheese on top; cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes. Remove cover, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese; place sliced olives on top and bake, uncovered, for 15 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

To Serve: Slice remaining zucchini, saute in butter and place on top of casserole.

Third Place Winner, Mrs. Clarence Bowman, Lawton, Oklahoma:

ITALIAN ROUND STEAK ROLLS

- 2 beef round steaks, cut ¾ inch thick and weighing about 2 pounds each
- 1½ sticks (¾ cup) butter or margarine
- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- ¾ pound fresh spinach, finely chopped
- 1 cup grated bread crumbs
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 green pepper
- Cherry tomatoes
- Parsley

With a mallet pound beef round steaks to ½-inch thickness and cut each into 4 square or rectangular pieces. To a Dutch oven or large frying-pan (with cover), add ½ stick butter, chopped onion and spinach; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thoroughly heated. Remove from heat, add bread crumbs, egg, salt, pepper and nutmeg; mix thoroughly. Spread ⅛ of spinach mixture on each piece of beef, roll and tie securely with string. Add remaining butter to Dutch oven and brown rolls; pour off extra drippings. Add tomato sauce and enough water to cover the rolls; cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 3½ hours or until meat is tender. Makes 8 servings.

To Serve: Remove strings and arrange rolls on serving plate or platter. Pour cooking liquid over all. Garnish with sliced

1 cup chopped onion
2 cans (6 ounces each) tomato paste
2 cups water
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped bell pepper
2 cans (8½ ounces each) water chesnuts, sliced
2 cups cooked rice (cooked as directed on package)
1 can (5 ounces) evaporated milk
3 tablespoons margarine
2 cups crushed soda crackers
1 medium cucumber
Parsley

Brown ground beef lightly in Dutch oven, stirring during browning. Add salt, pepper, seasoned salts, onion, tomato paste and water; stir well, cover and cook on low heat for 1 hour. Remove 3 tablespoons cooking liquid and reserve. Add celery, bell pepper and water chestnuts to meat mixture and cook 12 to 15 minutes or until vegetables are a little crunchy. Remove from heat; add rice and evaporated milk and stir well. Pour into a 14x9-inch casserole. Melt margarine in saucepan and stir in the 3 tablespoons cooking liquid; toss cracker crumbs in mixture until they are well coated. Sprinkle the casserole with the crumbs to cover. Bake in a pre-heated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 35 minutes or until lightly browned. (This casserole may be divided into two small portions and frozen for later use.) Makes 10 servings.

To Serve: Slice the cucumber, lengthwise, thinly. Roll into rosettes and secure with pieces of round wooden picks. Use parsley as leaves for cucumber "roses" and garnish casserole.

Mrs. Frank E. Gladden, Indianapolis, Indiana: Honorable Mention.

RECIPE

ROAST A LA BURGUNDY

Beef rump roast, weighing about 4 pounds
2 to 3 tablespoons shortening
Celery salt
Cracked Pepper
1 can (13¾ ounces) beef bouillon
2 bouillon cubes
1 large bay leaf
2 stalks celery, cut in diagonal strips
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom pieces (optional)
½ cup water
1 cup Burgundy wine
1 can (3 ounces) whole mushrooms
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/3 cup water
Fresh mushrooms
Parsley

Brown beef well in shortening in Dutch oven. As meat is turned, season heavily with celery salt and cracked pepper; pour off drippings. Add bouillon, bouillon cubes, bay leaf, celery, mushrooms pieces (if desired), water and ½ cup wine. Cover and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 4 hours or until meat is very tender. Remove meat to a warm platter, let stand about 15 minutes. Remove bay leaf and celery from cooking liquid. Mix cornstrach and 1/3 cup water; add to cooking liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened adding remaining ½ cup wine and whole mushrooms, with liquid, during cooking.

To Serve: Slice meat, place slices in chafing dish and pour Burgundy-mushroom gravy over all. Garnish with fresh mushrooms and parsley.

Mrs. Roland Morin, Sanford, Maine: Honorable Mention.

RECIPE

BEEF STROGANOFF

2 to 2½ pounds boneless beef chuck round steak or round roast, cut 1¼ inches thick
½ cup soy sauce
1/3 cup sherry wine
1½ tablespoons grated ginger root
½ tablespoon sugar
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped onion
1 pound mushrooms
1½ tablespoons flour
Water
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 to 3 tablespoons snipped parsley
Butter
Hot cooked noodles

Combine soy sauce, wine, grated ginger root, sugar and garlic; mix well. Cut beef across the grain into 1¼-inch pieces. Pour mixture over beef and marinate in the refrigerator 4 hours or longer. Drain cubes and reserve marinade. In a large frying-pan, add butter and cook meat, 1/3 of the cubes at a time, quickly for 2 or 3 minutes until brown but rare to medium inside. Remove cubes with a slotted spoon and keep hot. Add water to reserved marinade to make 1 cup. Remove stems from all mushrooms and slice stems with ¼ of the mushroom caps, reserving ¾ of the caps to broil whole for garnish. Add onion and sliced mushrooms to frying pan and cook until golden color, 6 to 8 minutes. Stir in flour and gradually stir in marinade mixture; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened about 3 minutes.

Brush remaining mushrooms with butter and broil 3 to 4 minutes. Stir salt, pepper and sour cream into thickened mixture; heat until hot but do not boil. Add beef cubes and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

To Serve: Serve stroganoff over noodles, sprinkle with snipped parsley and garnish with hot broiled mushroom caps.

Mrs. Joseph Van Hese, Troy, Michigan: Honorable Mention.

RECIPE

BEEF SAUSAGE ROLLS

5 pounds ground beef chuck
5 teaspoons curing salt
2½ teaspoons coarse pepper
2½ teaspoons garlic salt
2½ teaspoons mustard seed
2½ teaspoons Hickory smoked salt
Cherry tomatoes
Parsley

Mix the 5 pounds ground beef, curing salt, pepper, garlic salt, mustard seed and the Hickory smoked salt; refrigerate 24 hours. Mix again and refrigerate 24 hours longer. Shape mixture into 3 narrow rolls about 12 inches long. Bake on a broiler pan in a very slow oven (200 degrees) for 2 hours, then lower temperature to 150 degrees and bake 6 hours longer. (This is a curing method). Cool and refrigerate. Place the rolls on a rack and heat in a very slow oven (200 degrees) for 1 to 1½ hours before serving. Makes 18 to 20 servings.

To Serve: Slice as a luncheon meat for sandwiches or buffet service.

Mrs. Betty Noel, Spokane, Washington: Honorable Mention

RECIPE

BING CHERRIYAKI BEEF

3½ pounds lean beef chuck, cut in 1½ -inch cubes
1 can (16 ounces) sweet black cherries
¼ cup sherry wine
1 envelope (1⅝ ounces) teriyaki sauce mix

Blend ¼ cup cherry juice with sherry, teriyaki sauce mix, garlic and ginger; pour over beef cubes. Cover and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 2 to 2½ hours, stirring occasionally, until beef is fork tender. Remove beef cubes and keep hot. Blend cornstarch with remaining cherry juice; stir into cooking liquid and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add pitted cherries and stir until heated through. Makes 6 servings.

To Serve: Place beef cubes in center of hot large platter, arrange rice around cubes, spoon sauce over meat and rice, sprinkle with almonds and garnish with parsley.

Liver good buy

Look to liver for an exceptional food buy. It's an excellent and economical source of essential nutrients, especially protein, B vitamins, iron and phosphorus. An added bonus: liver is a leading source of Vitamin A. Beef and pork liver are especially good braised; lamb and veal liver are tasty when broiled. Liver slices should have the membrane peeled and trimmed before cooking.

Concert set at Pomona

The Pomona College music department will present a concert of Baroque and classical chamber music for harpsichord and strings in Bridges Hall at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Admission is free.

Susanne Shapiro, faculty harpsichordist, will be joined by Shirley Marcus and Erica Sharp, violins; Linn Subotnick, viola, and Selene Hurford, cello. Each has performed widely throughout Southern California.

The program will include Concerto in G Minor for keyboard and strings by J. S. Bach; a sonata for cello and continuo by Haydn, and a quintet by Antonio Soler for the entire ensemble.

ARTHUR GODFREY will be emcee for the finals of "The Only Great American Tinsel Town Follies" at Busch Gardens in Van Nuys at 1 and 3 p.m. Sunday. The show will be telecast on Channel 13 at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Gutierrez to perform with L.A. Philharmonic

Pianist Horacio Gutierrez will perform Prokofieff's Piano Concerto No. 2 in G Minor with the Los Angeles Philharmonic in a concert in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, 1:30 p.m. Friday, 2:30 p.m. Sunday and 8:30 p.m. next Wednesday.

The young Cuban-American artist, who received much of his keyboard training in Los Angeles as a student of the late Sergei Tarnowsky, began his rise to prominence when he won the silver medal at the 1970 Tchaikowsky Competition in Moscow.

Since then he has been cheered by audiences throughout the world and praised by critics. Harold C. Schonberg of the N. Y. Times lauded his "supervirtuosity," and Joan Chissell of the London Times wrote, "He could become one of the century's very great pianists."

The orchestral portion of the four concerts under conductor Zubin Mahta will include four short pieces by American composer Charles Ives and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 2 ("Little Russian.")

Tickets are on sale at the Music Center box office Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sundays from noon to 5 p.m. Senior citizens are offered discount tickets for $3 for the Friday matinee.

HOME AGAIN — Former Claremonter, folksinger Tom Hunter, will present a recital in Mudd Auditorium of the School of Theology at Claremont at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 11. Tickets are $2 general, $1 for students.

Benefit recital slated

Folksinger - composer Tom Hunter of Palo Alto, a former resident of Claremont, will present a benefit guitar recital in Mudd Auditorium, School of Theology at Claremont, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 11.

Tickets are $2 general, $1 for students. Proceeds will go to ministerial scholarships.

After graduating from Claremont High School in 1964, Hunter earned degrees at Amherst College and Union Theological Seminary in New York. He is now United Church of Christ youth minister at Ladera Community Church near Palo Alto.

The 30-year-old singer has performed from the Monterey Folk Festival and the Shire Road Pub in Sacramento to the Mongoose Coffee House in Brooklyn and the Fish Market in Ocean City, N.J. The Palo Alto Times called him "a modern-day minstrel," and The Grapevine termed his music "beautifully revealing and compassionate."

CHEERING IT UP — Sandy Duncan, Lucie Arnaz and Stockard Channing practice the old school yell for their roles in "Vanities," bowing Nov. 4 at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center. Jack Feifner's new comedy is slated to run through Dec. 19. Garland Wright directs.

Bill's TV

None finer on the market!

MGA

Seeing is believing.

It doesn't matter what your reason. Or even what kind of programs you watch.

The more you watch TV—the more you'll see the difference in an MGA. Believe it.

Amen, and pass the TV Guide.

CS-1300 Portable color television has just taken another step in the right direction. Introducing the smallest color MGA yet. The mighty 1300. More than a little bit of all right.

Its compact chassis is totally solid-state. With a full 23,000 volts of regulated picture power. The 13-inch diagonal measure quick-warm-up picture tube is MGA's own in-line, single-gun, black-matrix type. With a shortneck design that cuts overall size to a mere 14¼" high, by 18¾" wide, by 14½" deep. It'll give you fits you didn't think were possible.

And pictures to match.

Automatic fine tuning with memory, color-lock, lighted dial, built-in antennae, earphone jack and a 4-inch round speaker are some of the niceties you'll appreciate, wherever you put it. Which could be just about anywhere.

GETTING IN DUTCH — Danny Kaye stars in "Hans Christian Andersen," to be telecast on Channel 5 at 8 p.m. Nov. 18. The movie features such songs as "Thumbelina" and "Wonderful, Wonderful Copenhagen." This is one of the series, "IBM Presents Movies To Remember." It will be shown with only one commercial interruption.

UCLA slates dance troupe

The Kathryn Posin Dance Company will perform in Royce Hall, UCLA, at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 13. This is the second event in the university's Art of the Dance Series.

Miss Posin has danced with Anna Sokolow, the Dance Theater Workshop, American Dance Theater and the New York Shakespeare Festival, but is best known throughout Europe and the United States for her choreographies of such productions as the rock hit "Salvation." She employs a wide range of dance idioms.

In creating her own ensemble, Miss Posin utilizes music from Bach to jazz, and merges techniques of classical, modern, jazz and rock dance plus acrobatics and yoga.

Miss Posin was graduated from Bennington (Vt.) College with a degree in dance and then launched her dancing career in New York.

SWEEPING UP — Tony Toscano takes a broom to Karen Lapp in a scene from the Westok Theater production of "A Thurber Carnival." The new La Verne-based theatrical troupe will present the comedy at the La Verne Church of the Brethren at 8 o'clock Friday night.

'Gypsy' to be a benefit

The opening-night performance of the musical "Gypsy," by the Pomona College theater arts department, will be a benefit for the Claremont chapter of the American Red Cross.

The performance will be staged in Garrison Theater, Claremont, at 8 p.m. Nov. 11. Tickets at $3 general and $1.50 for students, are on sale at the box office, the Red Cross office and the Chamber of Commerce, and can be obtained from Red Cross volunteers. Group rates are offered. The chapter hopes to sell out the 700-seat theater.

General chairman of the benefit is Jay Doty, assisted by Mrs. Erle Bunker, Bruce Ehresman, Mrs. Russell Lett, Mrs. Myron Powell, Mrs. Frederick Sontag and Mrs. Ralph Webster.

"Gypsy" will be directed by Patricia D. Madsen, director of the theater arts department. Paul Lyday will handle the choreography.

Cal Poly to present 2 original productions

The Cal Poly drama department will present two original plays in the Studio Theater at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Tickets are $2.50 general, $2 for students.

"Confessions of Martha Rae," by Steve Morris, is a piece about the callousness of modern marriage. Morris illuminates a life of disappointment, shattered dreams and unfulfilled wishes, using laughter as well as pathos. The play is a 40-minute monologue by Luci Dronberger of Covina.

Morris, a Cal Poly graduate, directs "Confessions."

The second play is "Trunk 15," a solo performance by the author, Robert Ernst. The play is an interpretive exploration of his youth and Midwestern Norwegian heritage.

Ernst says, "I open with a gesture, and everything that comes after — the words, the sound, everything — builds toward the final gesture.

Ernst, now teaching a class in movement at Cal Poly, is a member of The Blake Street Hawkeyes in Berkeley, where "Trunk 15" was developed and first performed in 1975. Ernst leads workshops and performs his own works at universities throughout the country. Among his works are "Princess Rain," "Vessel," "Salteye" and "Bobby White."

Reservations and additional information on the plays are available by calling 598-4546 or 598-4549.

Convention held for tortoises

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It looked like a convention of pet rocks, except the pets moved around a little once in a while.

Some 35 members showed up for a meeting of the Bay Area Turtle and Tortoise Society, staged at the San Francisco Zoo.

One turtle owner, Mary Muerle of Walnut Creek, explained the attraction: "The reason people like to collect reptiles is that they're more of a challenge — getting them to reveal their personalities and respond to you — than, say, a cocker spaniel."
